VOLUME 23

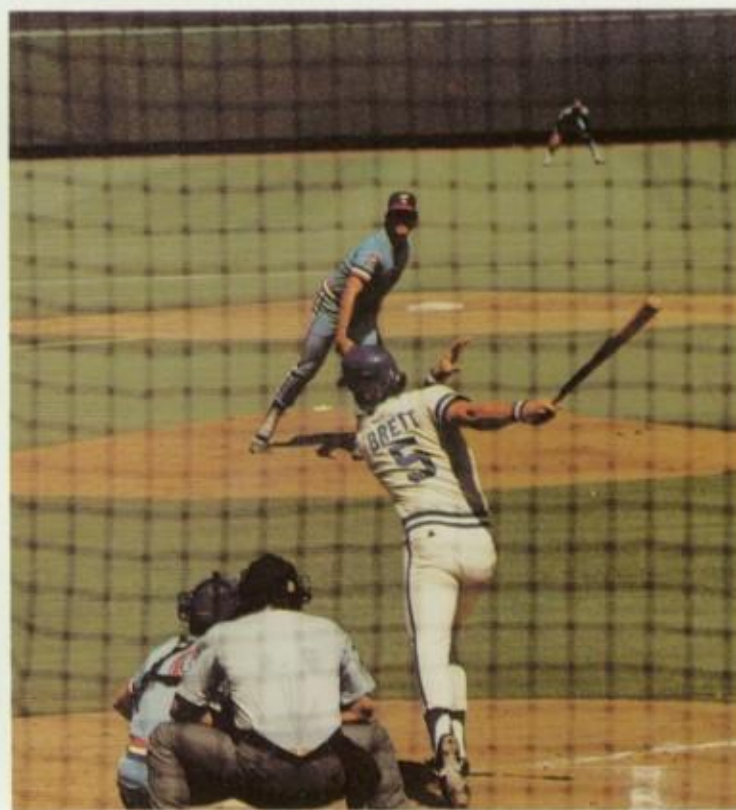

The world around us is filled with contrasts, contrasts that add flavor and color to our lives. It would be a dull world indeed without the variations that life offers us.

Nowhere are the contrasts more striking than in the people we meet. Each unique person adds to the variations that make life scintillating.

A single baritone player can blow a note and play a song, but many must blend to create a symphony.

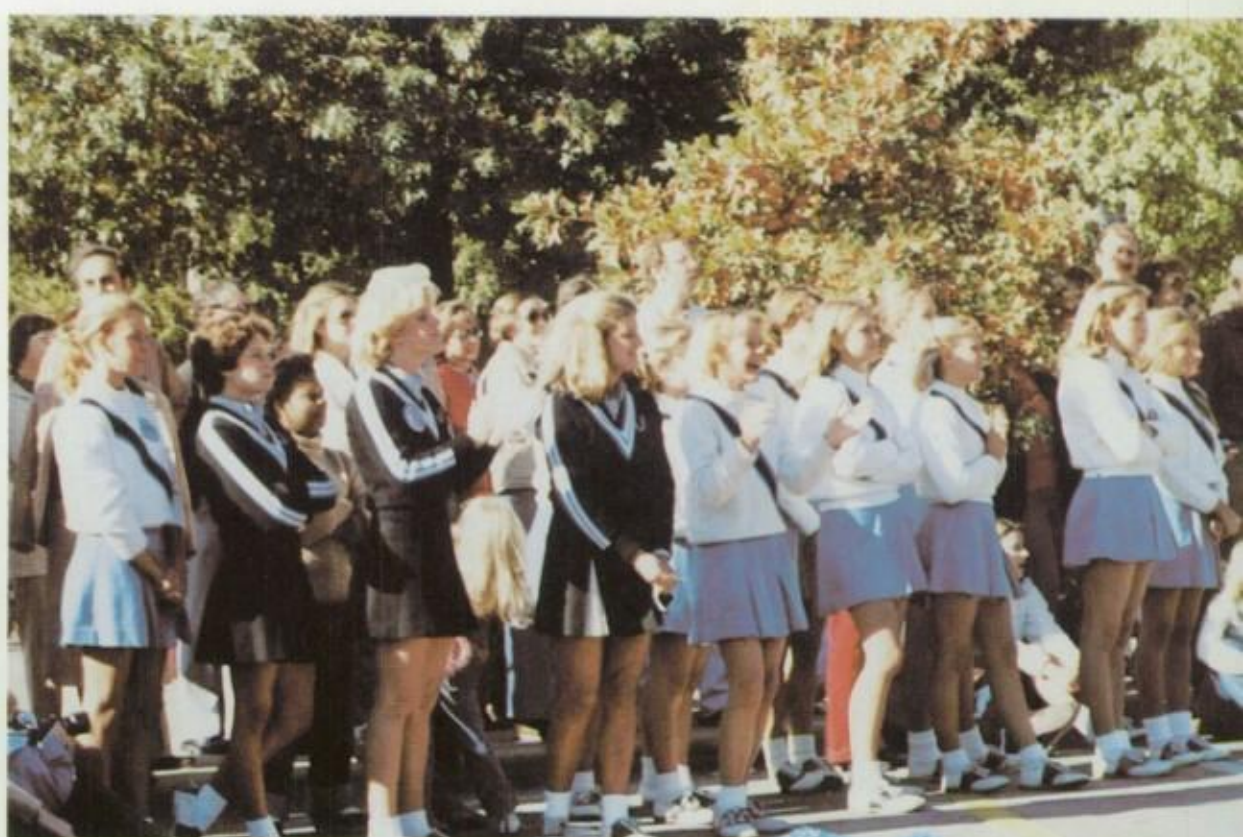

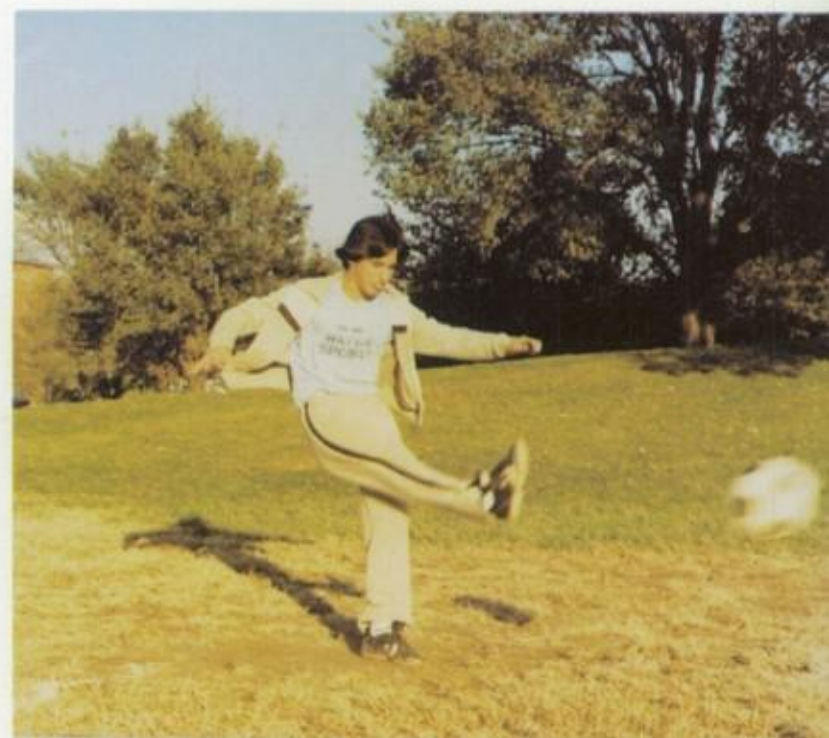

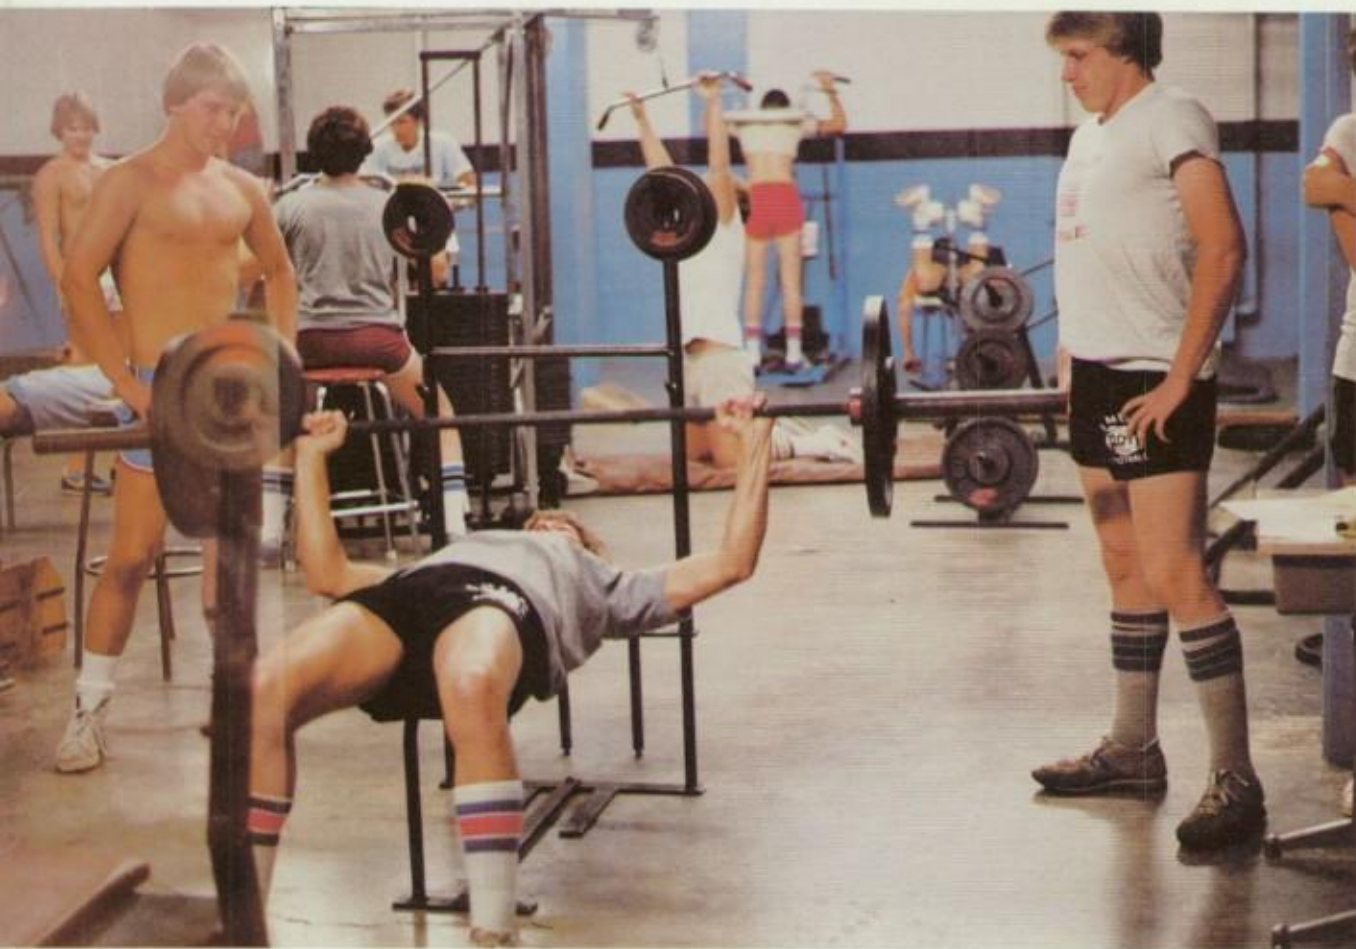

As we experiment with life,
we understand that choices have to be made. These choices reflect our personalities, our dreams, and our goals.

Practice is a part of school life. Individually or as a team, Lancers sought to excel in many different ways.

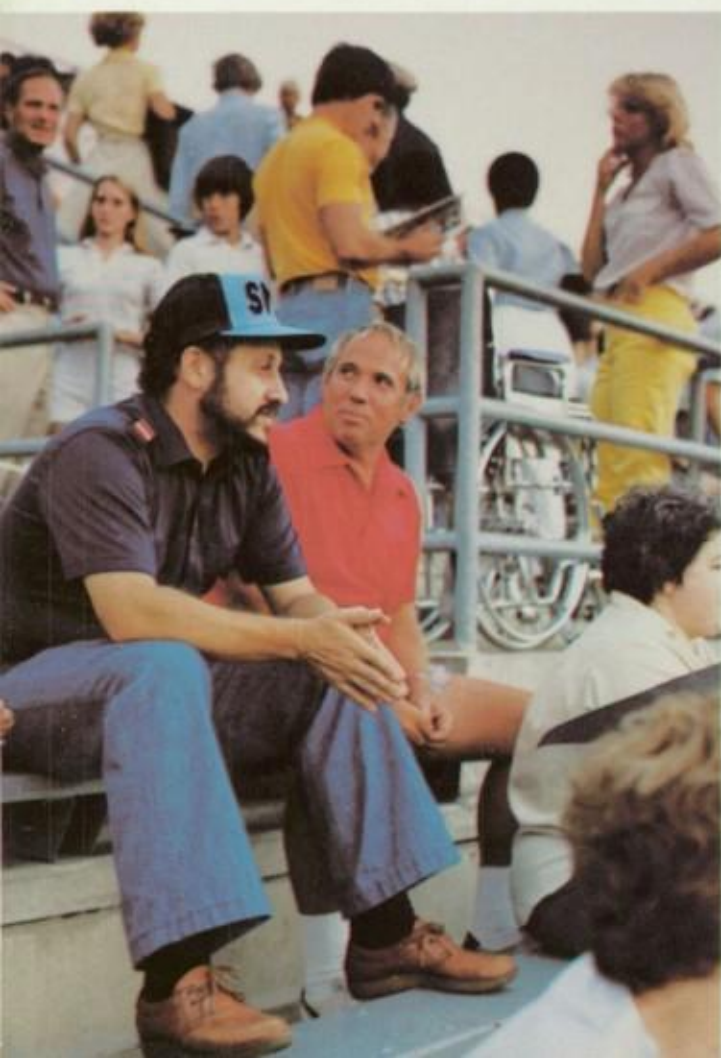

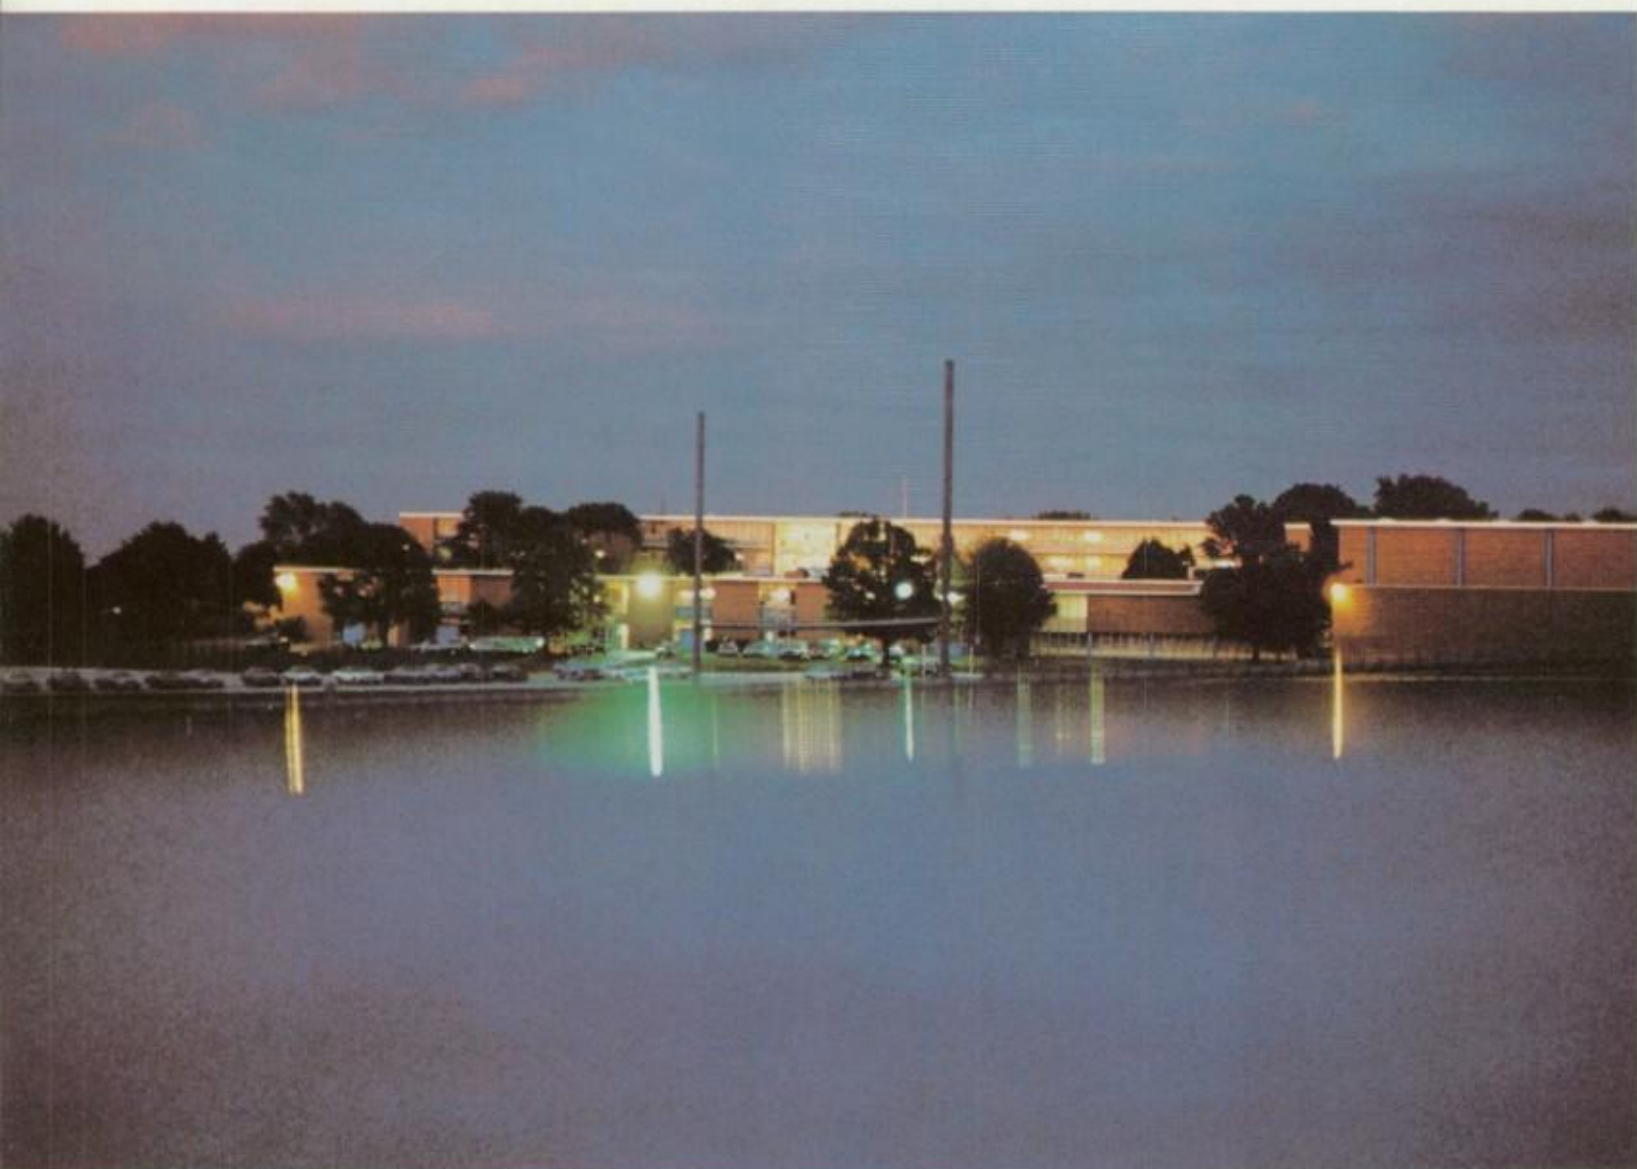

In our years at East, we are as a single flower in the field, distinct; one of many which add to the beauty of the meadow.

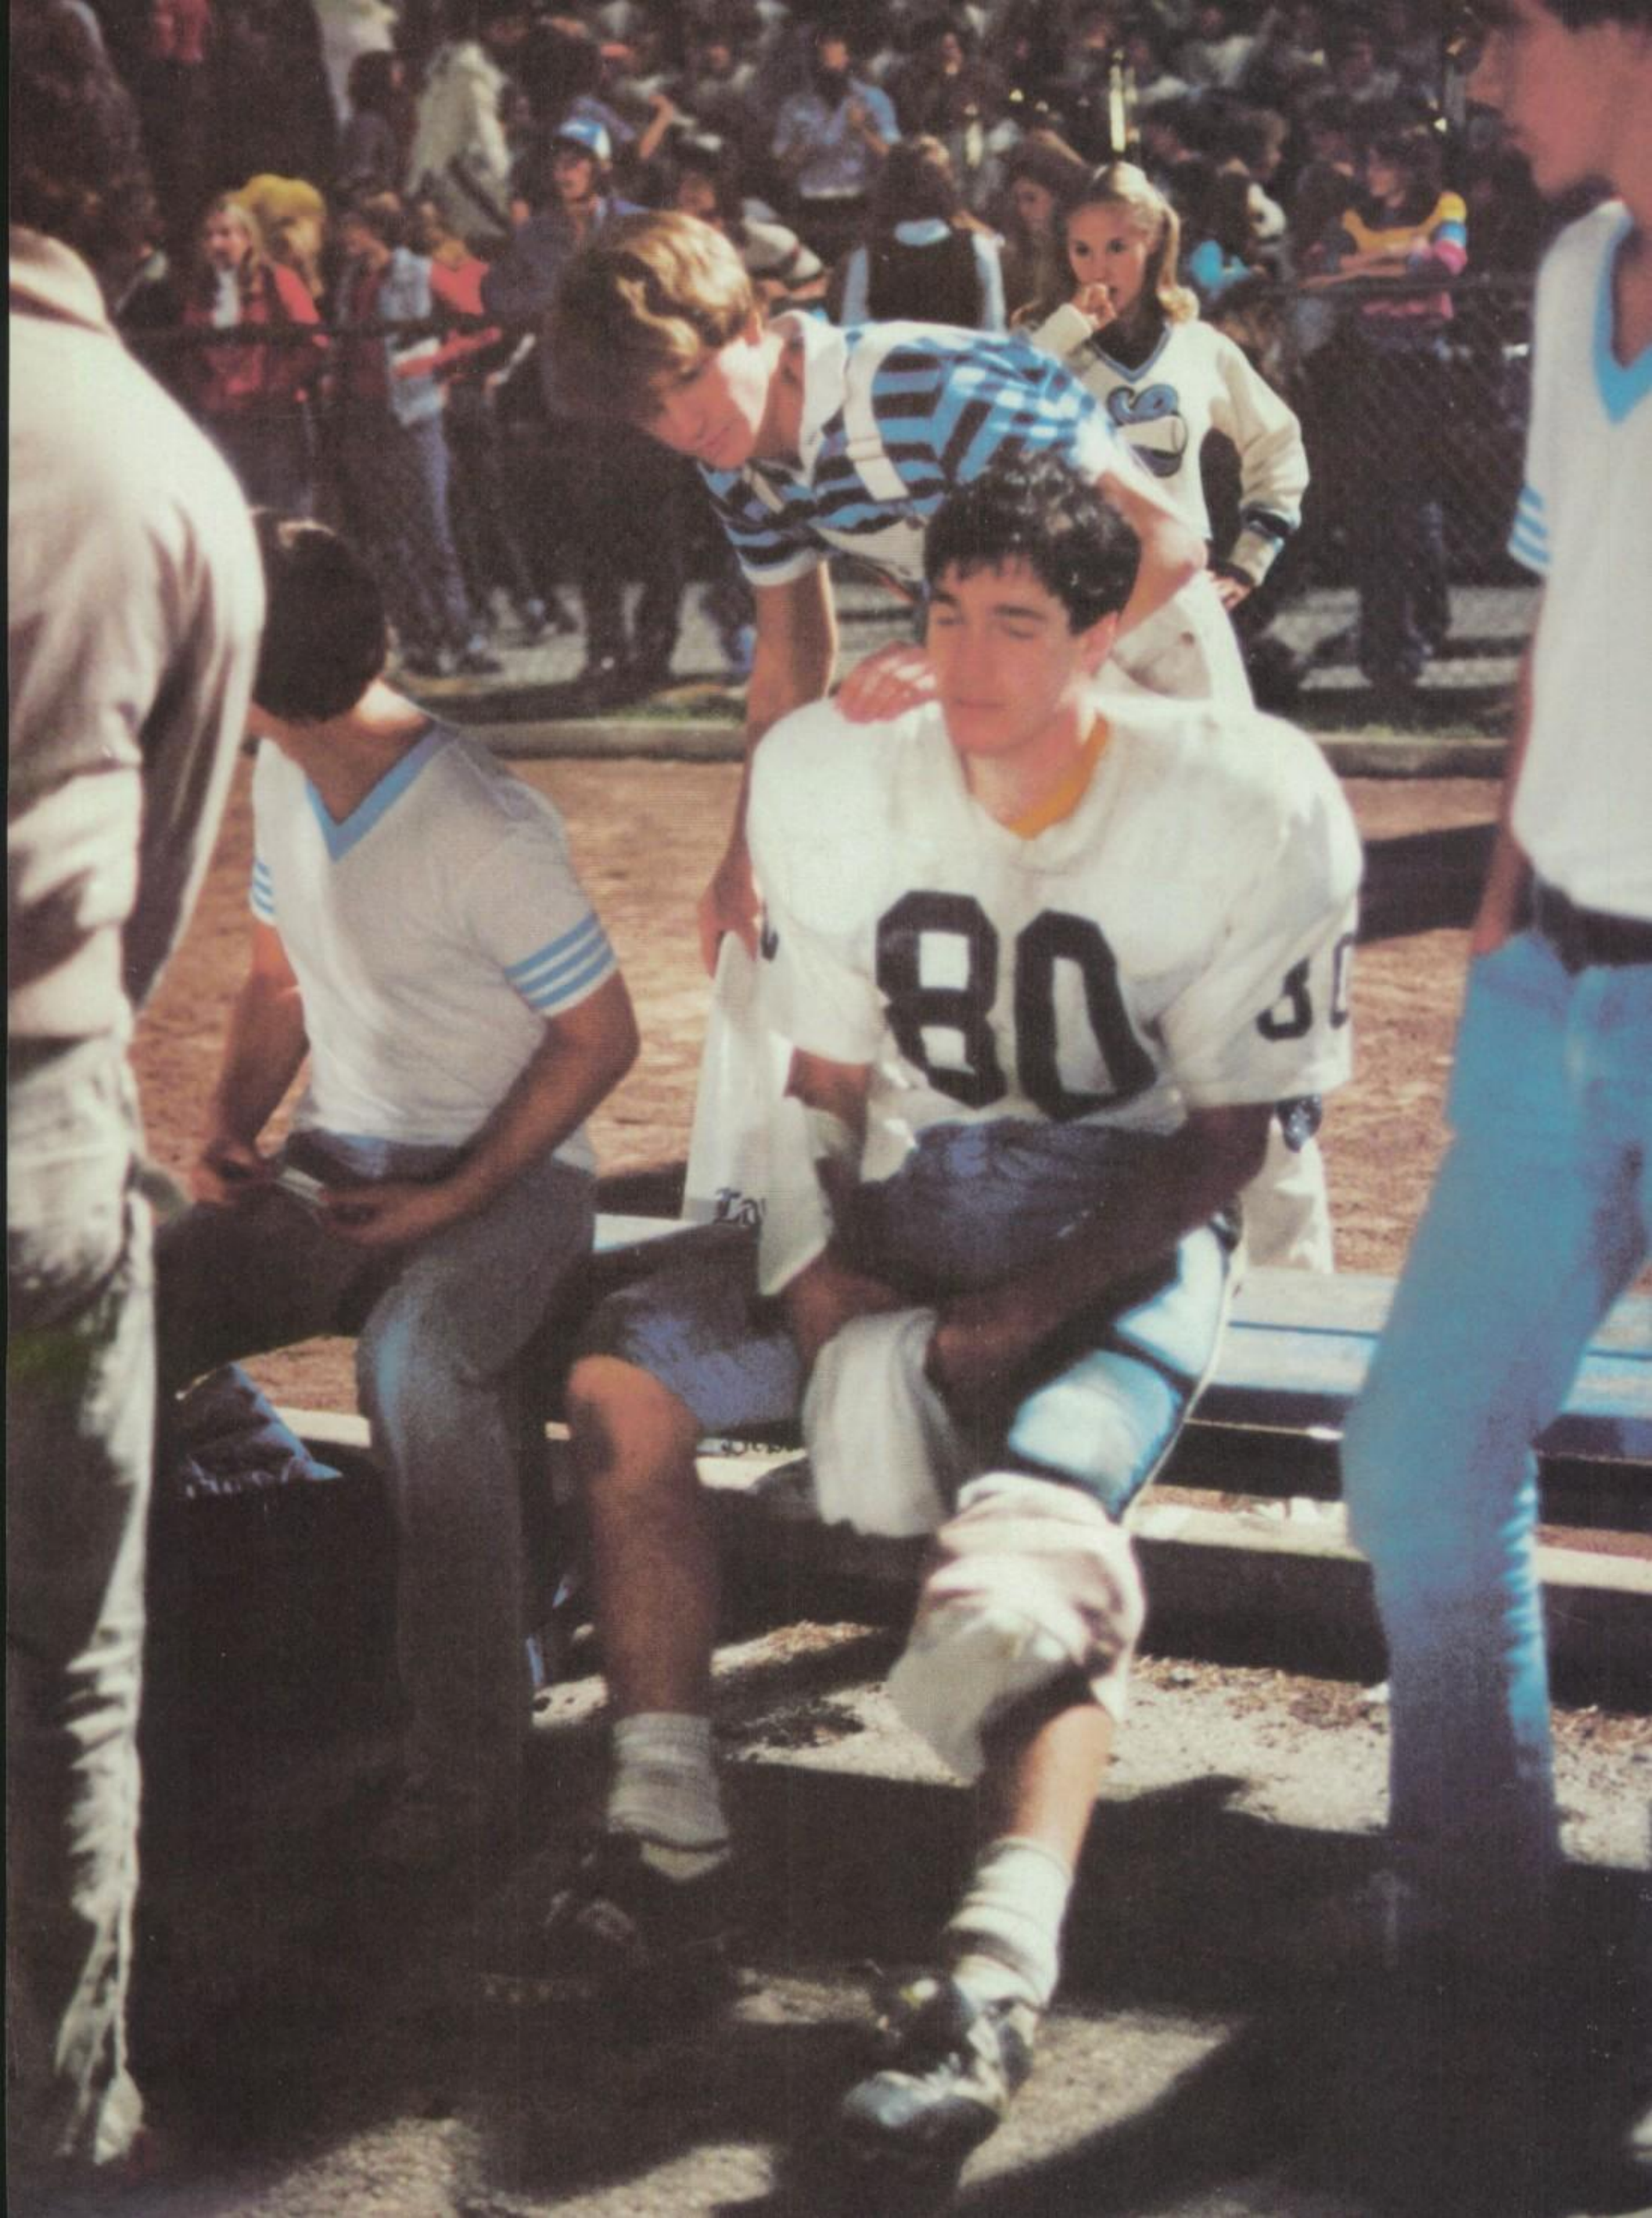

The leadership of staff and students was a beacon guiding us through a fog of decisions. It led us to our separate goals and allowed us to sail with confidence into the future.

ACTIVITIES

"L-A-N-C-E-R-S, yes, we're Lancers!" Chants like this filled the air as crowds gathered to support all of East's athletic events.

Supporting these activities meant decorating lockers, baking team treats, painting banners, and planning assemblies. This was the job of the Pep Club Executive Committee. This group of student leaders consisted of four sophomores, four juniors, four seniors, and the four officers, Tamra Knapp, president; Mary Huxtable, vice president; Angie Ninci, secretary; and Grace Miller, treasurer.

The leadership and enthusiasm of the Pep Exec explain why it was the largest club at East.

Traditional East Spirit Continues

One of the many traditions at SMEast is that of the Heralders. The heralding squad consists of four to six girls who try out every fall. Being a member of the pep club is the only required prerequisite for those who wish to audition. Among other miscellaneous jobs, Heralders perform the traditional opening ceremonies.

Poise, a cheerful smile, and school spirit were the characteristics of the Heralders this year. They performed their duties well. This year's six Heralders were junior Kathy Miller, and seniors Lynn Brandmeyer, Kathy Hall, Julie Flynn, Jenny Lycon, and Jennifer Kircher, captain.

Another group of enthusiasts that deserves recognition is the mascots. This year's secret spirit spreaders were three seniors: Scotti Hopkins, Kerri McKay, and second year mascot Kristy Varney. These girls appeared as the Lancer mascot on an alternating basis at all East pep assemblies and football and basketball games.

Stimulating student enthusiasm was the main responsibility of the 1980-81 football and basketball yell leaders.

Sponsored by Mr. David Wolff, the twelve yell leaders provided entertainment for Lancer fans. They performed acrobatic routines and constructed body pyramids.

These spirit spreaders practiced and performed with the cheerleaders both at athletic functions but also at pep assemblies.

The yell leaders were selected by a vote of the student body. Each squad selects their individual uniforms. Football yell leaders chose overalls, rugby shirts and blue bandanas. The basketball yell leaders selected painters' pants.

SM East Drill Team

Drill Team performs with the band in Grand Island, Nebraska

Drill Team Receives a #1 Rating

The East Drill Team culminated the year with the attendance of the Grand Island, Neb., marching festival for two days. East was only able to acknowledge winning four performance awards due to ruling by the Kansas High School Athletic Association. However, East did receive a number one rating. Achieving a level of national recognition, drill team sponsor, Eileen McDonald, said, "The overall team gets better each year in terms of performance and skill due to the girls starting in their sophomore year."

Officers and responsibilities included captain, Sharon Rollins, who organized the team during class and performances; secretary/treasurer, Diane Conrad, who was in charge of fund raising, and social chairwomen, Kristi Newcomer and Janet Campion, who took care of the dinners and favors.

Flags Fly High for Birth of New Team

A new group of performing artists gathered this year to form the SM East flag team. Teresa Seibert was the faculty sponsor for the team and helped coordinate their routines.

The girls were enrolled in flag team as a class and received a "K" credit for the work. The team practiced before school, beginning at 7:00 AM and working through first hour each day.

The team's birth was announced last spring and tryouts were held for the positions. Of the girls selected, Kristen Patty and Jennifer Van Dyke, seniors, were chosen to be the team's co-captains.

Van Dyke commented, "It was sort of hard at first; those flags are heavy. But we all had fun with it."

Huxtable Reigns as Riverboat Royalty

During halftime ceremonies of the Oct. 11 SM East—SM North varsity football game, this year's homecoming queen, Mary Huxtable, was crowned. Against the backdrop of a Lancer victory over the North Indians and a riverboat mural, Huxtable was crowned. A display of helium-filled balloons also helped to create this year's theme of "Evening on the River."

The girls were escorted onto the field as the East Marching Band played "Old Man River." Huxtable's court consisted of first attendant Kristy Newcomer, second attendant Julie Flynn, third attendant Jennifer Sperry and fourth attendant Grace Miller.

Because of conflicting events, the homecoming dance was held the following weekend. The queen and her court presided over the event, the music for which was supplied by the band Savannah.

The crowning of this year's Sweetheart Queen, Sherri Davies, took place at the half-time of East's victorious game over SM South on Jan. 30.

First attendant Scotti Hopkins, second attendant Diane Fitzcharles, third attendant Rhonda Dettmer and fourth attendant Lisa Kerr were also crowned during the ceremonies.

The girls were selected from a group of fifteen candidates who were chosen by the Sr. class. The queen and her attendants were then selected by the entire SM East student body.

The one point win over rival SM South also added to the evenings excitement. Lancers filled the stands wearing Lacostes, top sidars, and their preppiest attire to see the crowning and the win over South.

The following evening the Sweetheart Dance was held in the school cafeteria. The royal court reigned over the event as The Waverly Street Band entertained.

"A Knight in Paris" was the theme of the 1981 Junior-Senior Prom. The couples travelled into the city of Paris through the French countryside.

There they were entertained by over fifty colorfully dressed prom servers at the famous Moulin Rouge. Dressed as dancing girls, they performed a wide variety of dances typical of that entertainment hall.

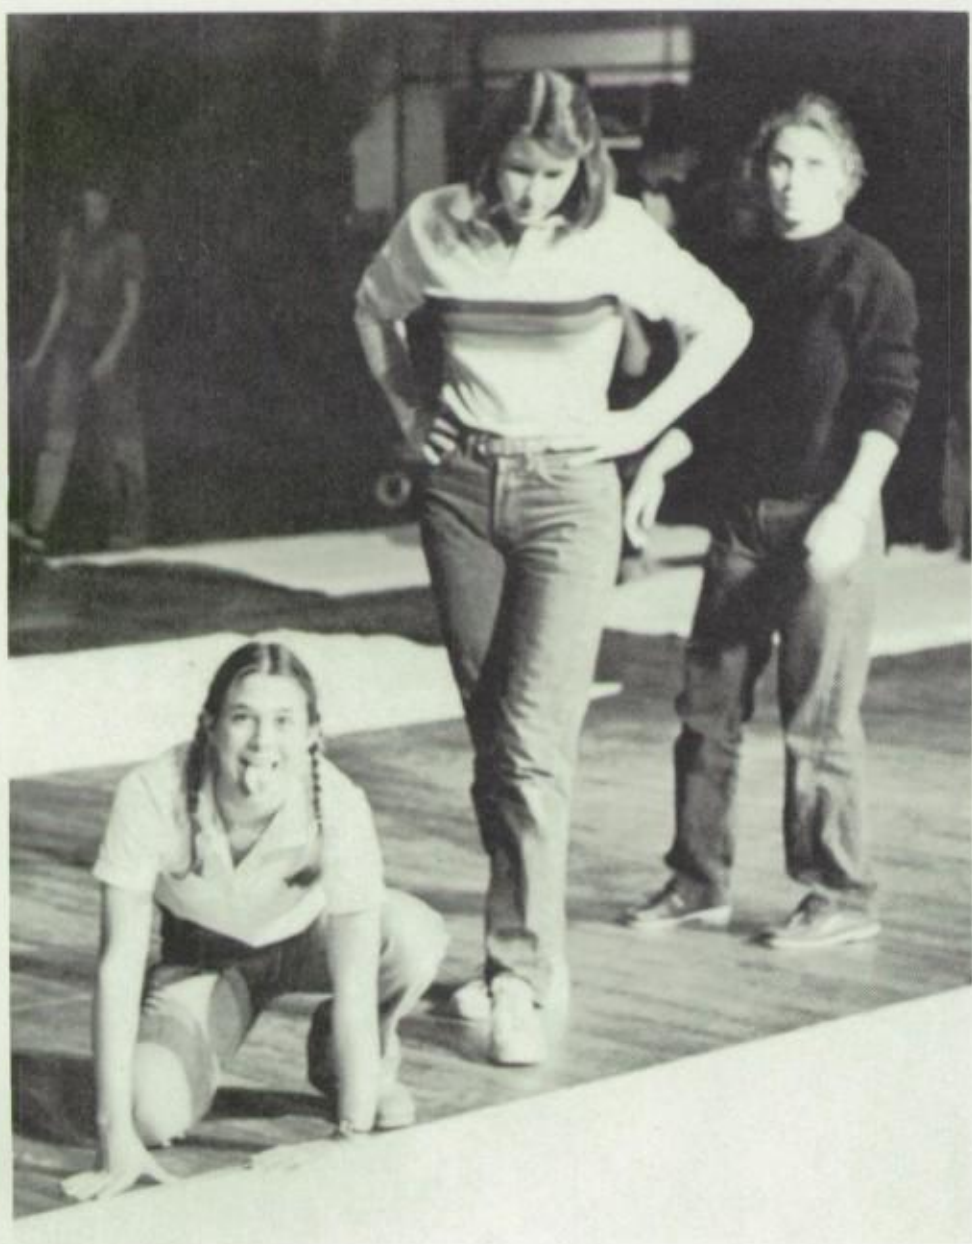

Following the sidewalks brightly illuminated by lights strung through the trees, couples found themselves before a smaller version of the Eiffel Tower.

The well known Notre Dame Church was not forgotten. Couples were served refreshments at a sidewalk cafe overlooking the Seine river.

Prom chairmen under the supervision of the Junior class officers, through hours of hard work, transformed the school gym into the city of love. This year, reusable canvas flats, built by the juniors, were used. These took more time to construct but will help future proms.

Brain Power Is Prevalent

An impressive result of SM East's high academic standards was demonstrated by the number of National Merit Semifinalists.

Twenty in all, these students ranked in the upper one half of one percent of all who took the PSAT test in the state of Kansas. The test was given in October of their junior year.

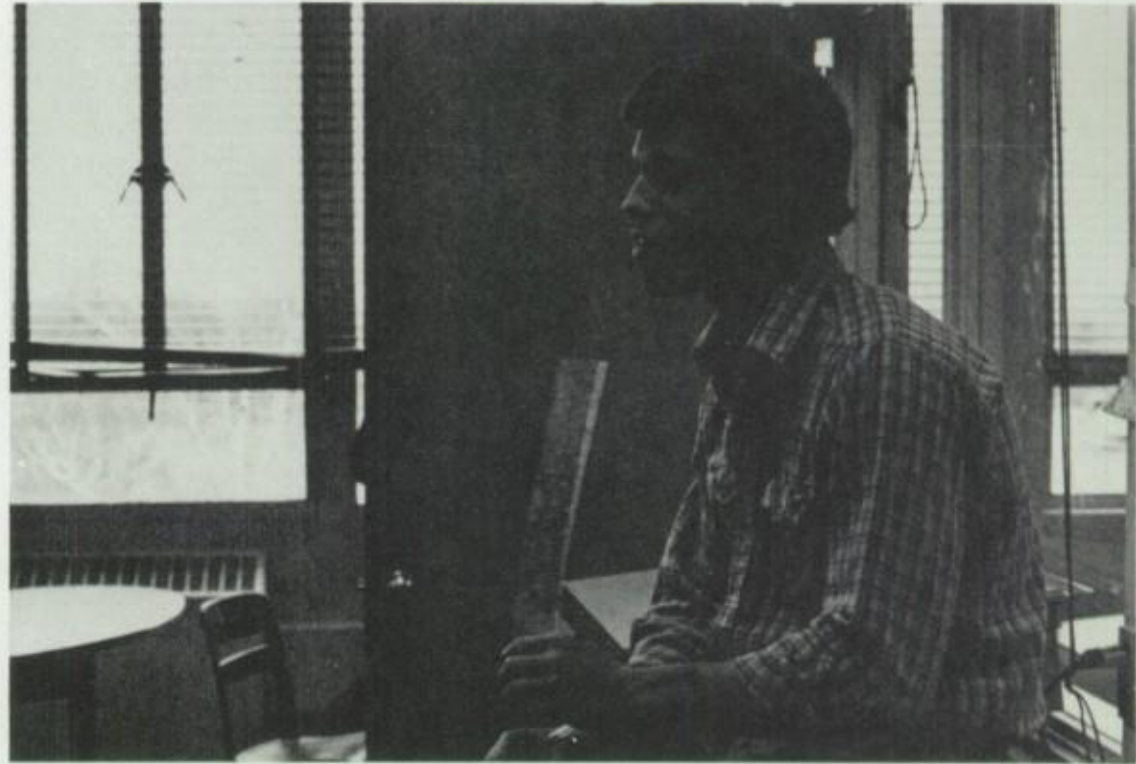

Semifinalists must also be recommended by the school principal for this tremendous honor. A second examination was administered during the student's senior year to confirm their academic excellence.

Twenty Letters of Commendation were awarded to SM East students this past year. These students ranked in the upper five percent of all students who took the PSAT.

Such outstanding achievement reflected the success of SM East's techniques.

Senior David Battey received a National Merit Letter of Commendation.

Seniors Receive Special Honor

There were twenty SM East seniors who were given National Merit Letters of Commendation. In order to be awarded this honor, they had to achieve PSAT scores which placed them in the top five percent in the Nation. The PSAT is an examination taken by juniors, in October, which is a preliminary test to the SAT college entrance exams.

The twenty students were Kim Andre, David Battey, Phil Doherty, Robert Dorrell, Marilyn Dunn, Kevin Gasser, Cynthia Gorman, Cameron Hack, Andy Haun, Richard Lesky, Neal Lintecum, Chris Matney, Lisa McGahey, Stephen Mulcahy, CeCe Owen, Cynthia Pronko, William Reckling, Julie Stewart, Robert Story, and Scott Sullins.

The scores are scrutinized by colleges considering the acceptance of students. David Wolff, counselor, said, "Seniors need this data."

NHS Benefits Students and Area

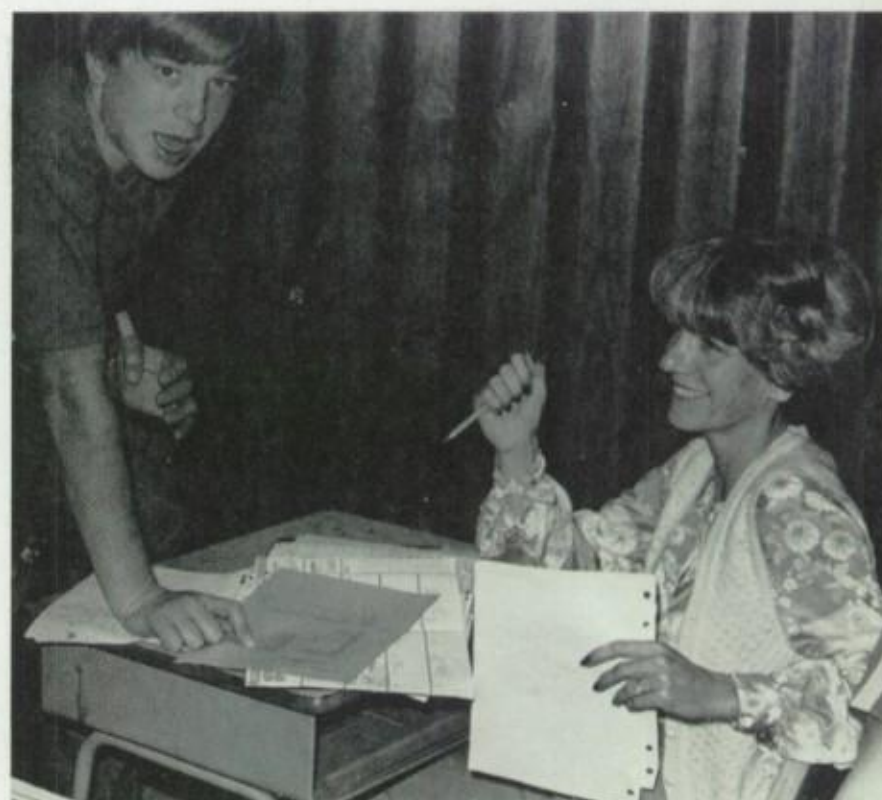

Lead by sponsor, Jane McCue and Andy Haun, president, the National Honor Society continued to recognize outstanding scholarship while trying to become a community service organization.

Other officers included Diane Fitzcharles, vice-president; Sarah Lowe, treasurer; and Leslee Spencer, secretary.

The annual blood drive was one of NHS's community projects. Headed by Spencer, the drive supplied many vital pints of blood to the local blood bank.

Honors and awards night, which was held at the end of the year, was organized by Lowe. Besides supplying the refreshments, NHS inducted its new members.

In the spring, members nominated two people for competition for national scholarships worth $2,000. These scholarships are given by the headquarters of the NHS.

StuCo Proves Vital to SM East

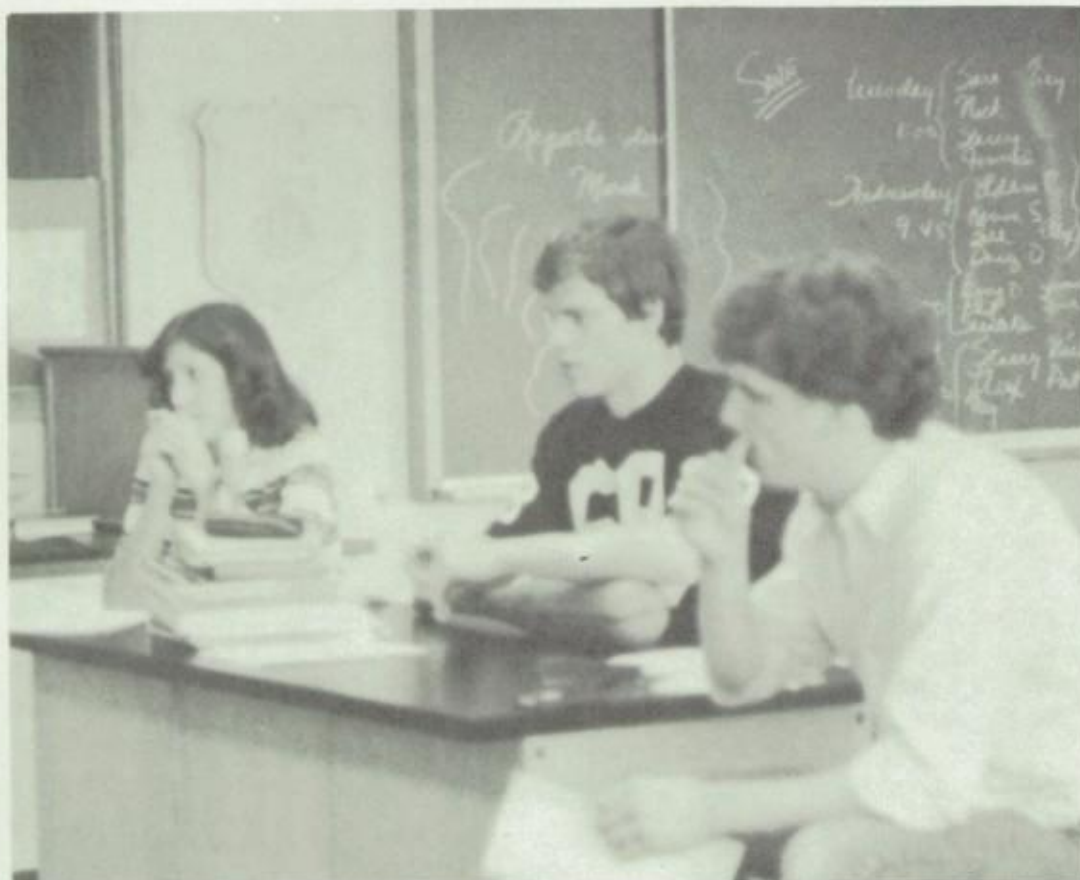

Led by president Steve Bergman, the SM East Student Council continued to provide integral services and added vital new ones.

In addition to established committees, StuCo developed Faculty Energy, Food Services and Alcohol Education. New events were created such as chili cook-off and theme days; punk, prep, and western. The sophomore officers tried out the idea of separate English class reps.

StuCo held meetings every other Wednesday, open to all students.

Society Recognizes Excellence

Quill and Scroll, an honorary society for high school journalists, acknowledged the outstanding accomplishments of many SM East students.

Each member was selected from any publication by their respective advisors: HARBINGER'S Robert Dillon; Skip Graham of the HAUBERK; and Nora Lamkin of the LABYRINTH.

Dillon said that Quill and Scroll recognized all phases of high school journalism on all publications: literary magazine, yearbook, and newspaper. He made his selections from the HARBINGER staff based on their overall contribution.

Other mandatory qualifications for membership included being in the upper third of one's class or maintain an approximate 3.0 grade point average.

"I believe that membership in Quill and Scroll is like receiving an athletic letter," Dillon said.

Harbie Receives Raving Reviews

Editor-in-chief David Battey and assistant editor-in-chief Jenny Hendricks headed the first semester Harbinger. Forty other students comprised their staff.

Several innovations characterized first semester's Harbinger. Political advertisements were present for the first time in several years. A unique two-page election extra was distributed Nov. 5. The extra consisted of news and feature stories on the election outcomes.

Journalists Work Hard

Seniors Robert Dorrell and Kim Clingan served as editor-in-chief and assistant editor-in-chief, respectively, for the second semester Harbinger staff.

"The staff gave the paper a face life," said Robert Dillon, newspaper advisor. Dillon said many of the changes were in the graphics of the paper, such as a small picture on the front page that tied in with a story and picture on one of the inside pages. Another change was the addition of a regular column, Damon's Domain, by Hal Klopfer.

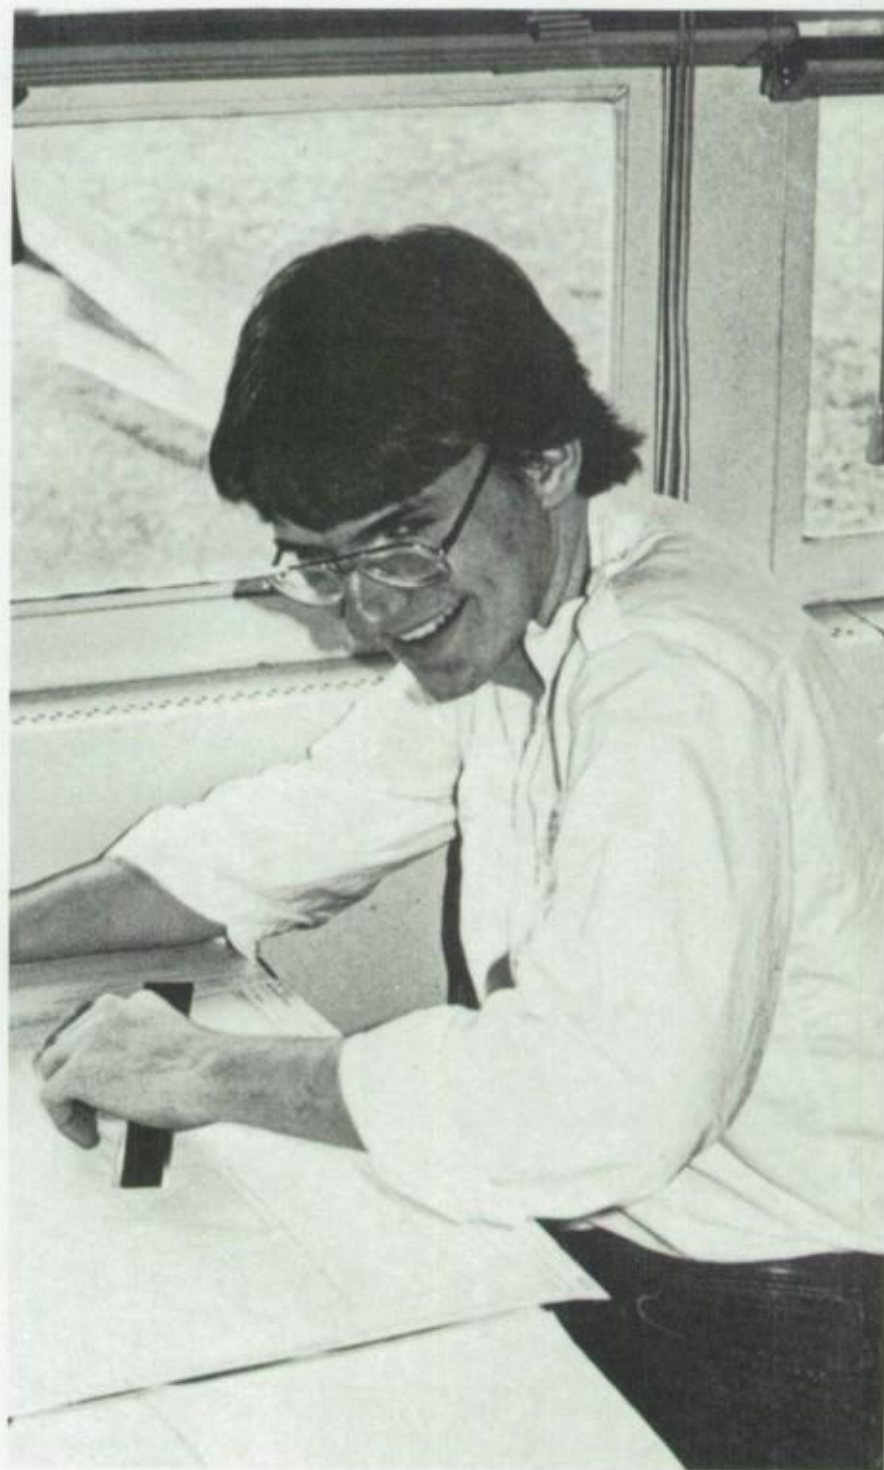

"The staff was eager to do even tedious tasks so that the paper would have polish," Dillon said. "The students had fun while they were learning."

Contrast Helps Journalists Capture Year

Under the direction of editor-in-chief Robert Dorrell, this year's Hauberk staff succeeded in producing another memorable annual. Assistant editor Laura Jacobs aided Dorrell in overseeing the six sub-staffs and their work in preparing the book. The theme of "contrast" was carried throughout the '80-'81 volume by means of copy, photographs, and captioning.

Yearbook sponsor Skip Graham admitted, "We had some problems but we worked together as a staff to iron them out." Meeting deadlines with the publishing company was one of the main worries and responsibilities of the staff.

Literary/Sports editor Scotti Hopkins explained, "It was a great experience but a lot of responsibility knowing that 1500 kids were depending on us to capture and reproduce the 80-81 year."

Labyrinth Displays Students' Talents

According to Scotti Hopkins, Editor of the 1980-81 Labyrinth, the magazine's purpose is "to give creative students an opportunity to express themselves and to have their talents displayed."

Nora Lamkin, sponsor, said, "The staff this year put out two editions of the literary magazine, held two successful contests, and sponsored a computer dating program to raise money."

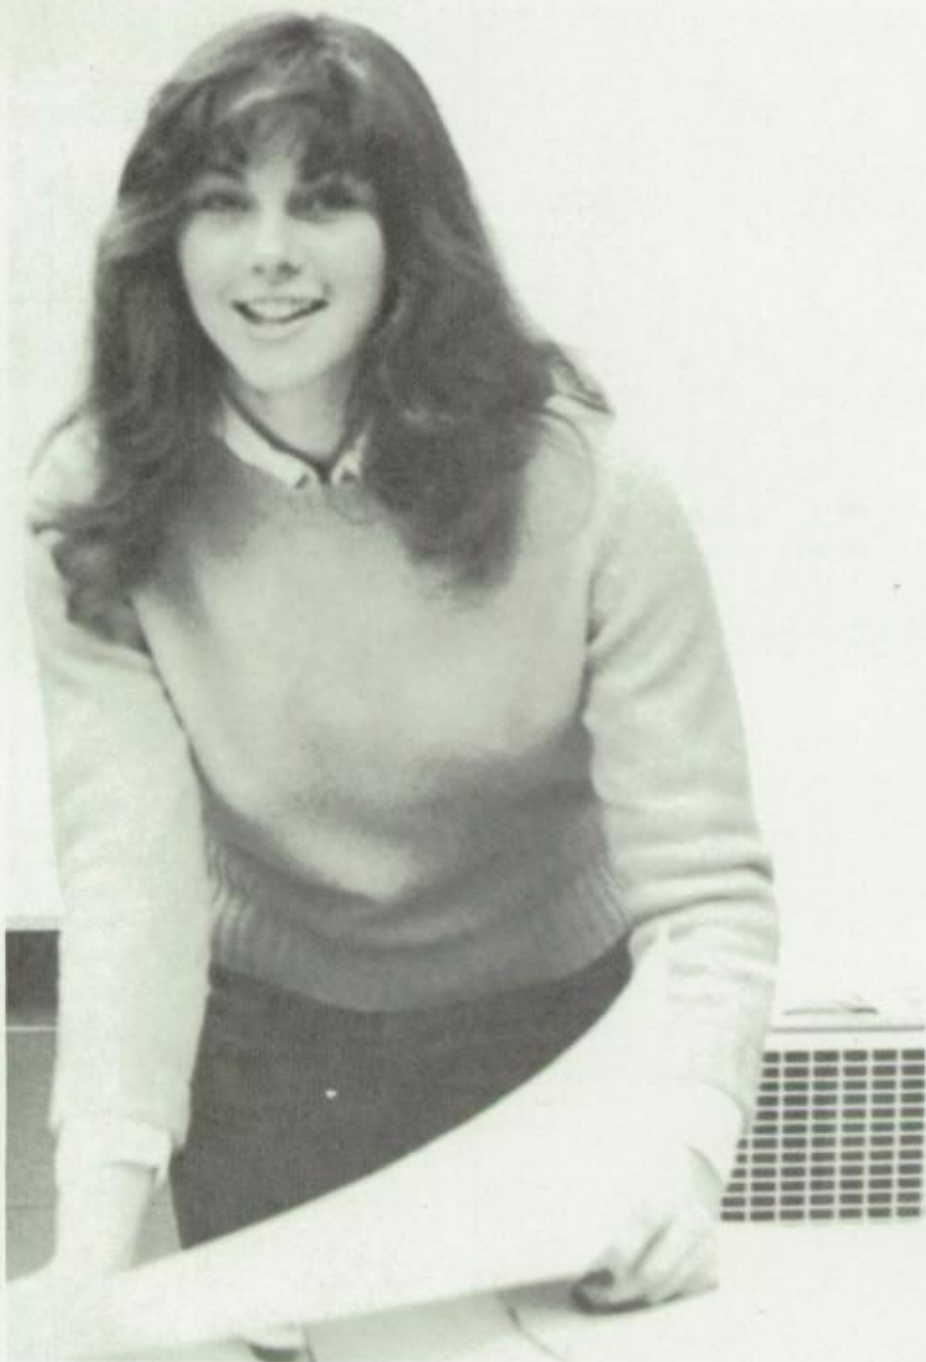

The staff, which consisted of sophomores, juniors, and seniors, was headed by editor Hopkins, assistant editor Karen Stewart, and six seniors who served as staff editors.

The literary magazines, featured short stories, poems, and artwork. "The contests provided much of the material that we used in the magazines. I was excited about the number of entries we received and their wide variety," commented Hopkins.

"I had fun working on the magazine. Since the Labyrinth is not offered as a class as the newspaper and yearbook are, it required outside work. I think this experience has given the staff an insight into journalistic production," Stewart remarked.

Marching Band

Pep Band

Musical Entertainment Provides Excitement and Pleasure

There were five band courses offered to SM East students for the 80-81 school year. The Marching Band provided sharp entertainment which warmed the hearts of the die-hard football fans freezing bodies. The Marching Band then converted to the Concert Band, a band with precisely balanced instrumentation for advanced music students—admittance by audition only! The Concert Band performed at the State Music Festival held in Wichita and received its highest rating. The other concert band was less competitive and competent, containing less advanced musicians.

There were two jazz bands. The Blue Knights and the Jazz Ensemble. The Blue Knights played more stage-band swing music than jazz. The Jazz Ensemble was for the advanced jazz musicians. Both bands performed many concerts together which provided large audiences extraordinary musical literature.

The Pep Band was well received by students throughout the year. Basketball games and pep assemblies could not have generated the type of rowdiness and excitement they did without the help of the Pep Band. All of the five bands were directed by Mr. Al Hanna.

East Orchestra Stays Active Year Round

Covering almost all types of music from classical to popular, the East orchestra is composed of string and wind instruments. In October the orchestra combined with other district orchestras in the Shawnee Mission District Orchestra Festival. During December, the orchestra performed with the entire choir in the Vespers concert. Other concerts they played in were the Masterworks concert and the State Music Festival which East hosted.

The pit orchestra accompanied this year's musical, "The Music Man."

SME Music Shines

In a tradition of excellence, SM East choirs worked hard to produce quality music for the school and community. The Chamber Singers were a select group of singers. They performed not only at school but also at civic events and for the elderly.

Along with the Chamber Singers, seniors and a few juniors made up the Choraliers. Other juniors were usually placed in Concert Choir. The other coral groups included Girls Choir and Sophomore Choir.

The various choirs were directed by Dan Zollars.

Choir highlights included Vespers and Masterworks. Many singers participated in "The Music Man," the school musical. Others were members of district and state choir.

NFL Gains Honor

The National Forensics League, also known as the NFL, is an honor society for those students who participate in debate and forensics tournaments. It is a selective association which requires an accumulation of 25 NFL points for acceptance into it.

Debaters competed over whether or not the Federal Government should establish uniform standards for the regulation of commercial advertising.

Thespian Theater Participation Enjoyed

Thespians participated in numerous activities this year. An organization of students interested in theater, the club provided an excellent opportunity for involvement at SM East.

Thespians could frequently be seen at football and basketball games, vending programs and refreshments. The main social activity was different types of parties. Among seasonal activities was a Halloween costume party.

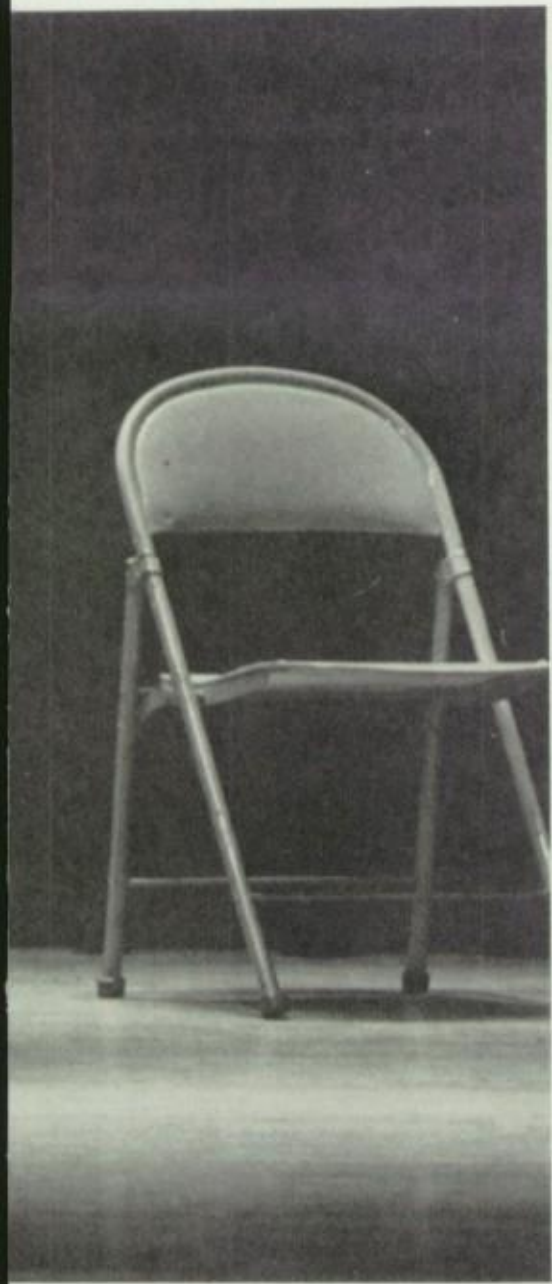

A total of ten points were necessary to become a Thespian Club member. Points could be earned in a number of ways. Some of the more popular methods were: working on a crew for the plays, being a cast member of the plays, or taking a drama class.

Headed by President, Cynthia Gorman, First Vice-President, Charlie McKee, Second Vice-President, Michelle Bailie, Treasurer, Steve Marquette, and Secretary, Lisa McGahey, all seniors, the Thespians experienced a highly successful year.

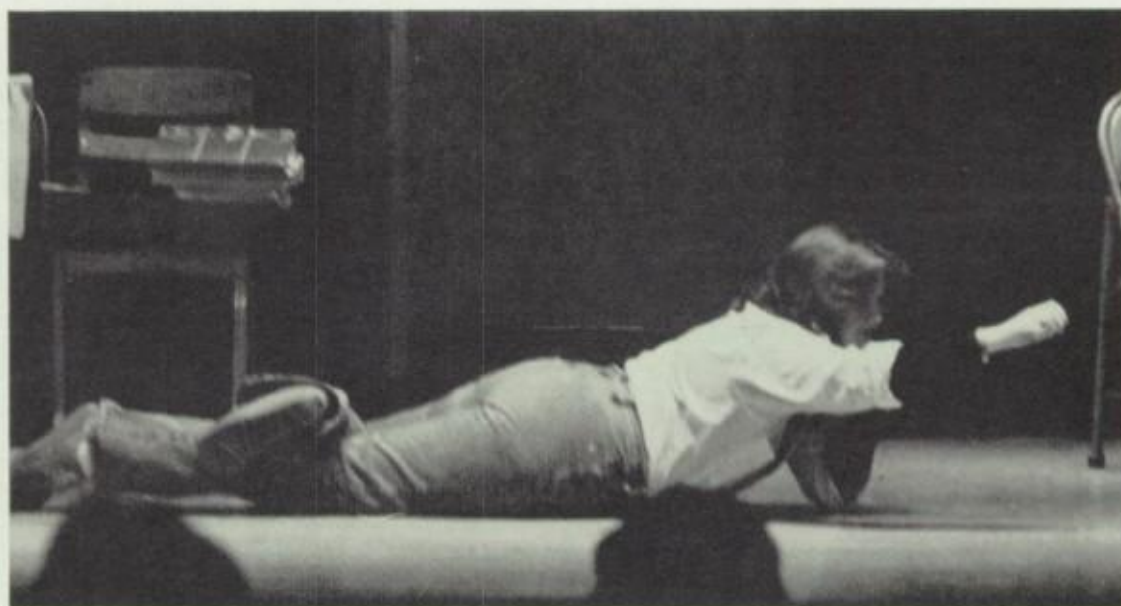

Under the guidance of Max Brown, drama instructor, Thespian membership was at an all time high. The traditional banquet, held in the spring, honored actors for outstanding performances.

The Vanderhofs Create Pandemonium

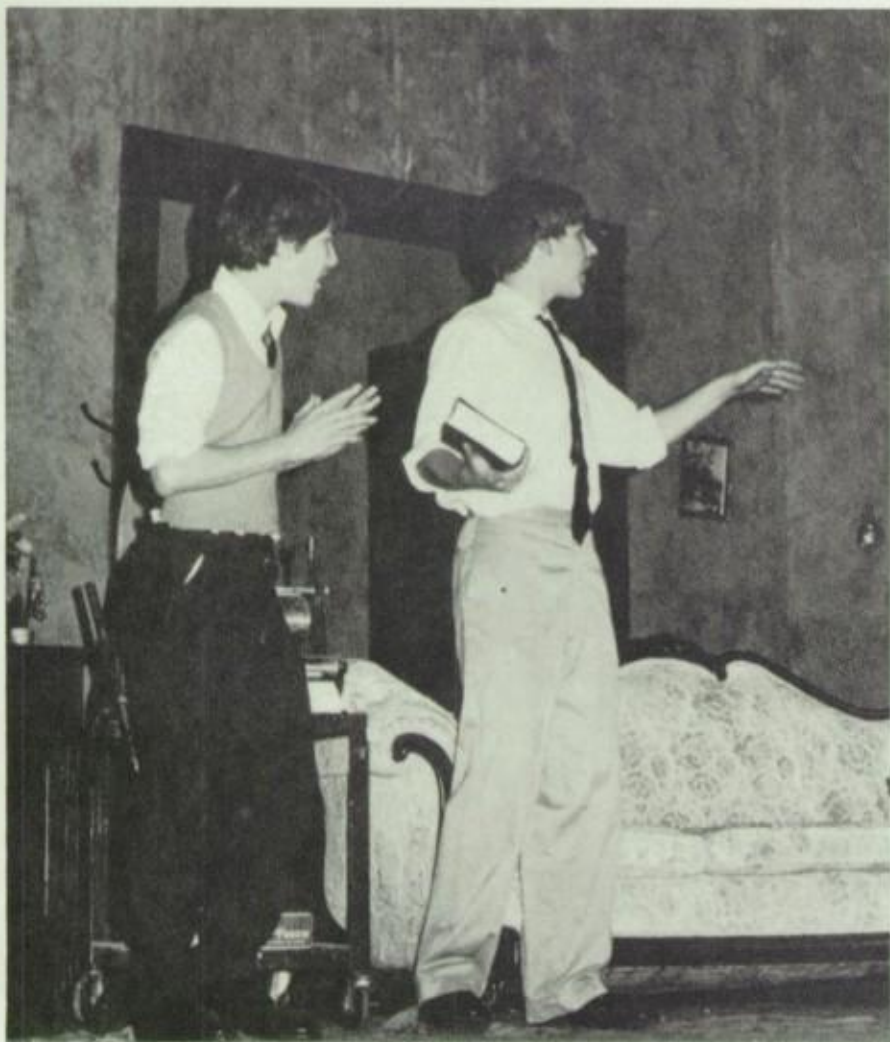

The SM East theater department opened the fall season with the play "You Can't Take It With You." The play, written by Moss Hart and George Kaufman, ran from Oct. 2 through Oct. 4.

The setting of the play is in New York during the early summer of 1935. Opening in the living room of the Martin Vanderhof household, the play is based on the concept that materialistic gain is secondary in importance to one's personal happiness.

Max Brown, theater director, cast the play the day after school began. Crew chiefs and the crews, who worked with such technical aspects as construction, painting, lighting, and props were gated a week later by Bryce York, technical director.

York said that the reason why the crews showed so much "dedication and put hours of work in" was because of "the satisfaction of knowing that they did a good job." As to the actors, York said, "We had some really superbly talented and dedicated kids who put spontaneity into the play."

Company Produces a Successful Musical

February 5, 6, and 7 were the dates of SM East's twenty-second musical, Meredith Willson's "The Music Man." This is one of the most popular musicals in America, a love story involving a fraudulent traveling salesman by the name of Harold Hill and a musically inclined librarian, Marian Paroo. The story takes place in the small town of River City, Iowa in the year 1912. When Hill arrives in River City on the Fourth of July, he begins to sell his latest con, a boys' band. It is then that he runs into a former partner of his, Marcellus, who later tries to help him escape. Also involved in the plot are Marian's mother and younger brother, the town's mayor and his family, the boyfriend of the mayor's oldest daughter, and the people of River City. A barbershop quartet, the Del Sarte ladies, and exciting dance numbers set the pace for this fun-loving musical, which was enjoyed by a full house each night it was performed.

Under the directorship of Max Brown, Ken Tebow, Bryce York, and Dan Zollars, the 160 students involved in the production were able to prepare the show in eight weeks of rehearsal.

Students Welcome Wayfaring Strangers

The opportunity for students to learn and appreciate foreign customs and ways of life was provided by the International Club here at SM East. The major objective of the American Field Service was to provide a home base for the eight foreign exchange students allocated for the year to SM East.

The International Club, sponsored by Missy Taylor, with full cooperation from the AFS, made possible many fund-raising activities. The money procured from these projects, car washes and parties, was used to help in financing the expenses involved in bringing these students to SM East.

The eight students involved in this exchange program came from all over the world. These students were Aine Boie, Germany; Bernard Deprez, Belgium; Takenori Ito, Japan; Eva Persson, Sweden; Bruce Provan, Australia; Elvia Piedad Ramos, Columbia; Kathrin Rieger, Germany; and Akiko Yabu, Japan.

Students Develop Leadership Through DECA

DECA stands for Distributive Education Clubs of America. Juniors and seniors participated in this organization by taking marketing and retailing classes.

Julie Barklage, DECA coordinator, said its purpose is "to teach students leadership, vocational understanding, civil consciousness, and social intelligence."

The students sponsored sale projects. They sold items such as mugs, candles, and carnations. The classes were also involved in creating advertising campaigns for the movie "Tribute." Twentieth Century Fox awarded a prize to the student with the best campaign in each class and to the student with the best campaign in the school.

DECA students went to Junction City, Kansas, to participate in a leadership conference. The DECA state officers went to Topeka, Kansas, for Vocational Students' Citizenship Day. DECA also sponsored Wacky Olympics to raise money for muscular dystrophy. The state competition was held in Wichita, Kansas, this year.

Students Ready

Office Education prepared juniors and seniors for possible careers in business related fields. Instructor Darlene Jones said, "It also helps students know if they really want a job like that."

Juniors were exposed to different equipment and techniques. As seniors, they perfected their skills with on the job training. Their employers ranged from doctors to lawyers to businessmen. Jones said many offices use East students year after year "since they know the caliber of students we put out."

Jones said that many East students receive enough knowledge to quiz out of college courses.

Categorically Speaking.

At mid-point in their season East's categories team held a winning record of 3-1 and faculty sponsor Everett Rees stated confidently, "We expect to win our third Championship."

The team was made up of students who held general knowledge in the areas of history, geography, literature, and science. They attended tournaments and answered trivial questions to score.

This year brought the largest turnout; nearly seventy students were tested for the ten member team. Captain Doug Scott led the team in points.

"A big advantage in participating in the NJROTC is the amount of scholarships available for both colleges and academies," he stated.

Student Naturalists Teach Children

Last year's club, Zoo in the School, was changed this year and made into a class called Student Naturalists.

The only prerequisite for Student Naturalists is Biology I, according to Ron Fox, teacher of the class.

Fox said, "The class is mainly prone to those who have a high interest in animals. The class is designed to help teach students about animals, focusing on the caring for animals."

Alex Cochran, a member of the Student Naturalist class, stated, "As well as teaching us about the natural history and care of animals, the class also teaches us how to give presentations to the groups of children, ranging from pre-schoolers to sixth graders, who come through the Zoo in School program."

Clubs Demonstrate Wide Interests

The various clubs this year at SM East covered a large assortment of areas. Ranging from the traditional language clubs, to the newly installed Ed Speizio Fan Club. Once again SM East proved to have something for everyone.

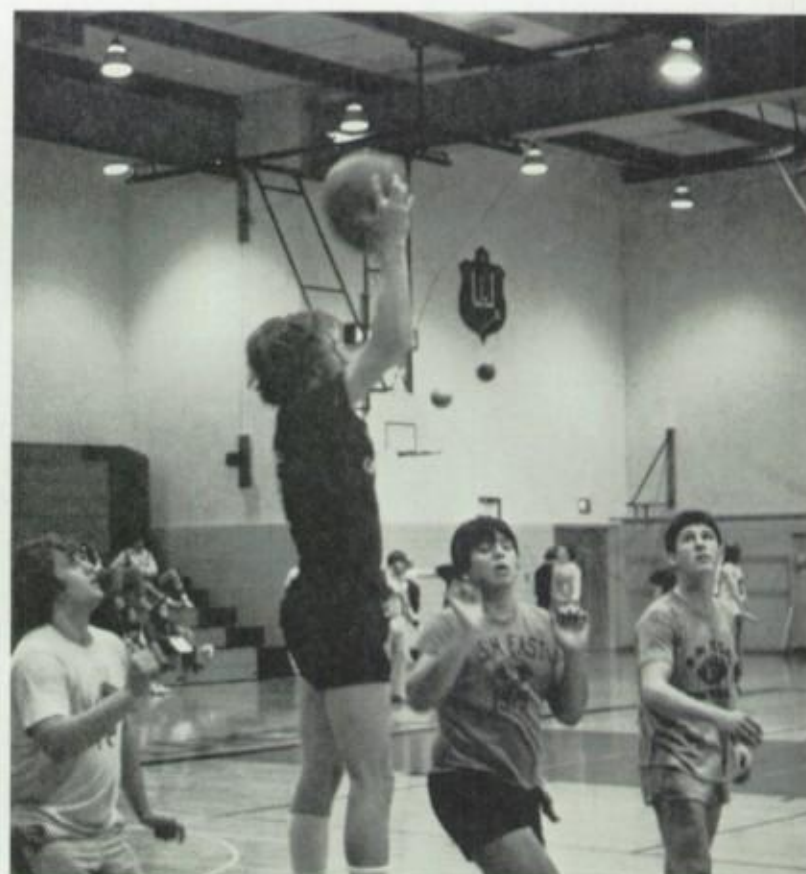

All students enrolled in foreign language classes automatically became a member of that club. Two or three big events a year were concentrated on.

The Dungeons and Dragons Club devoted its time to playing a game, similar to the Chess Club's objective. The Fin and Feather Club spent their time with wildlife.

Ed Speizio, ex-baseball player developed an almost cult-like following at SM East. His fan club was extremely popular and "Ed" memorabilia was found everywhere.

Intramurals Remain A Winner

John Beltram, a drivers' education teacher at SM East, assumed the role of sponsor for the 1980-81 intramural season. Intramural sports offered were basketball, bowling, ping-pong, and volleyball. Neal Lintecum, senior, stated, "It gives the people not good enough to play varsity a chance to show what they can do."

Basketball and volleyball traditionally drew the biggest attendance. Senior Dave Story said, "At basketball you can really get out your aggressions and frustrations. It's a perfectly violent way to cap a tiring Monday."

Car Fanatics Reach Far Extremes

Cars serve as status symbols for many SM East students. It means something important to drive a Firebird, Camaro, Mazda RX7, Fiat, Classic Mustang, Datsun 280ZX, Jeep, or convertible.

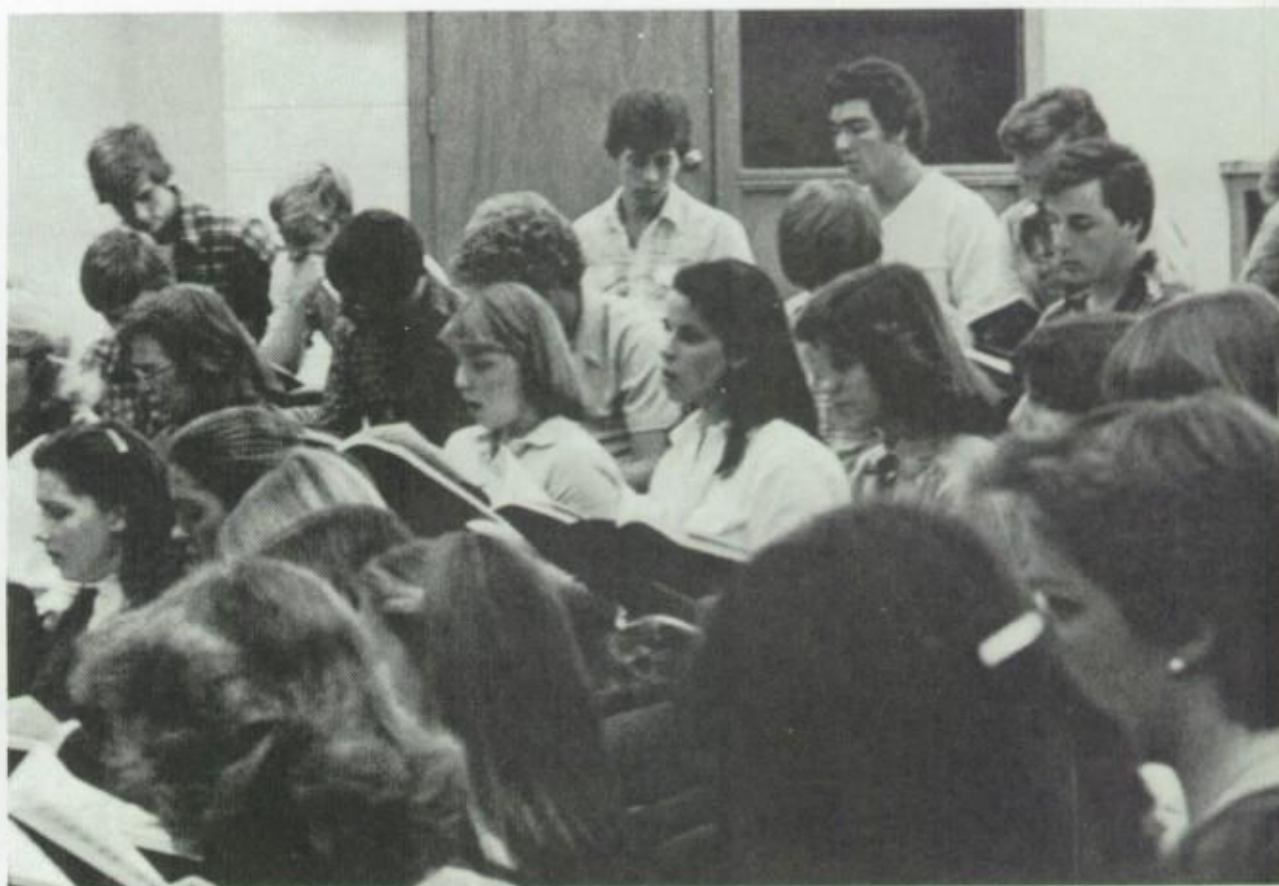

Intense pride is taken in the use and care of their cars. Several students look forward to the weekends, not only to participate in usual festivities, but to get a chance to wash, vacuum, clean, wax, and shine their shimmering machines. Ironically, many of these patrons actually have a far superior stereo system installed in their cruisers than in their rooms.

Workers Are Working

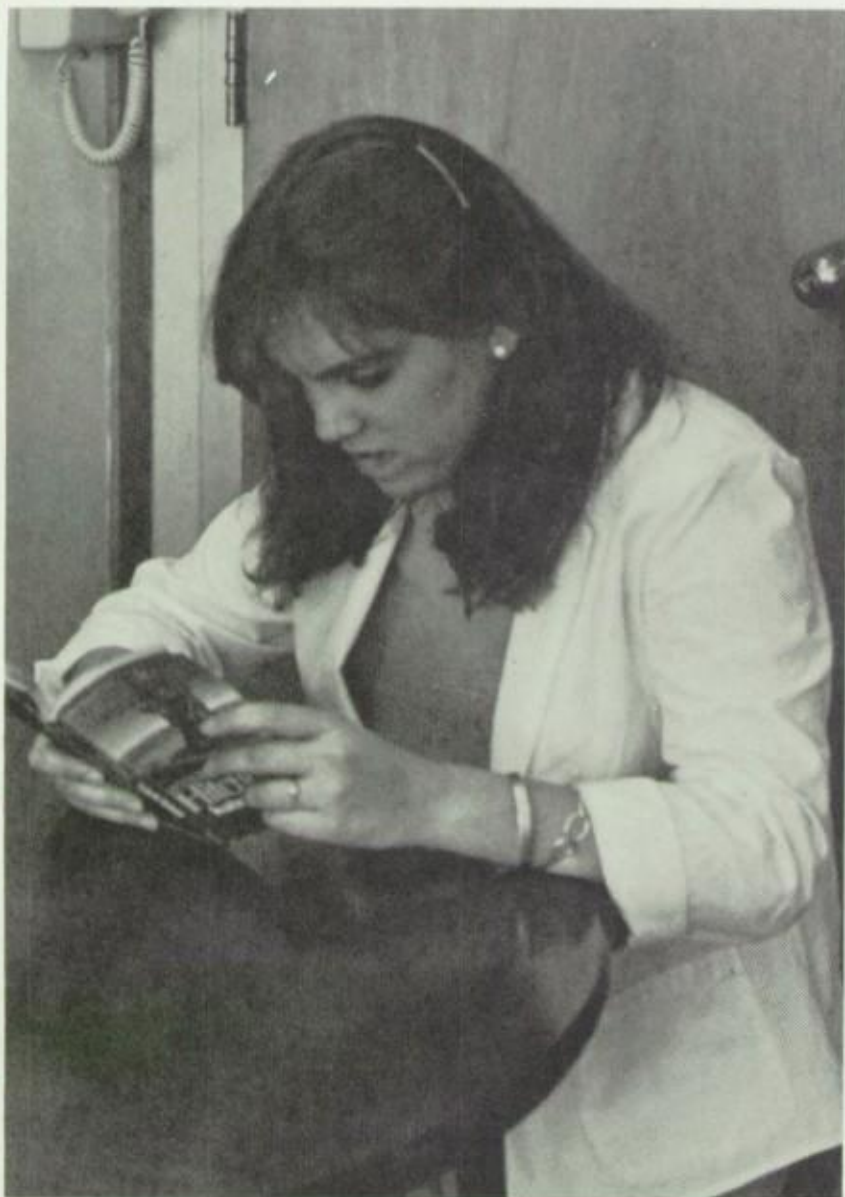

Students at work was a common sight throughout SM East this school year. Working in the classroom took up a major portion of time.

However, students could be seen almost anywhere in the building doing last minute homework, writing late themes, and cramming for tests.

Much work required outside time and research. In these cases, libraries and private homes were utilized.

In-school work was done in the cafeteria, on benches in the halls, and even on the floor. Alone or in groups, students worked.

ATHLETICS

Varsity Has Disconcerting Season

Senior Bill Boyd runs the option against the SM West Vikings.

The 1980 Lancer football squad combined two well-deserved victories and multiple defeats in order to complete the season with a meager 2-7 record. The Lancers were in almost every game, and the difference between winning and losing was usually one or two plays.

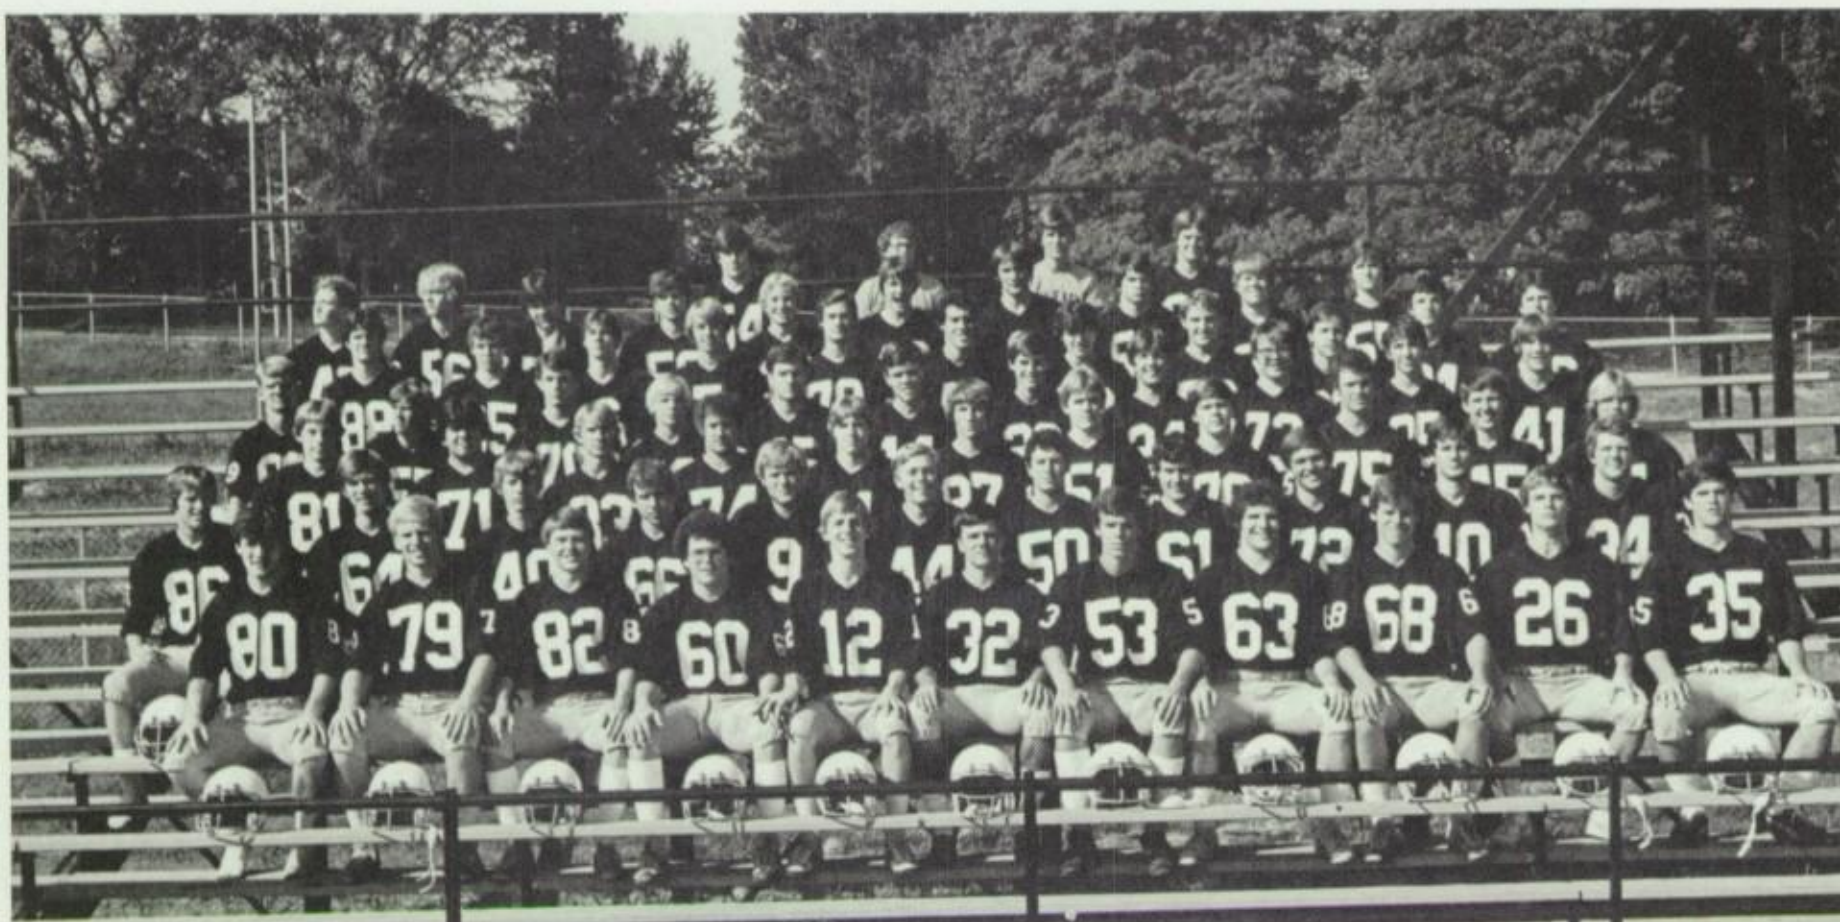

The Varsity opened the season with three disconcerting defeats from Wyandotte, Washington, and Rockhurst. Jefferson City and SM North however fell prey to the Lancers as they posted two consecutive victories. Unfortunately, the Lancers fell into their earlier rut as they lost the final four games to SM Northwest, SM West, SM South, and Lawrence.

A bright spot on the Lancer squad was its defense which, led by captains Dan Jensen and David Smith, came up with two consecutive shutouts and gave up an average of only thirteen points a game.

There are always people who say "If we'd just . . ." and "but if . . ." but as Corky Jacobs said, "If ifs and buts were candy and nuts, every day would be Christmas."

The SM East Junior Varsity Football squad finished the season with a dismal 2-6 record. The Lancers were quick off the start claiming two victories in as many outings; they beat Wyandotte and then Washington. The assault died off as they lost the remaining six games to Rockhurst, SM North, SM West, SM Northwest, SM South, and Lawrence, respectively.

David Collins, quarterback, and Layne Funk, tailback, led the offensive attack. Adding strength to the defense were Greg Rudigier, noseguard, and David Cohn, cornerback.

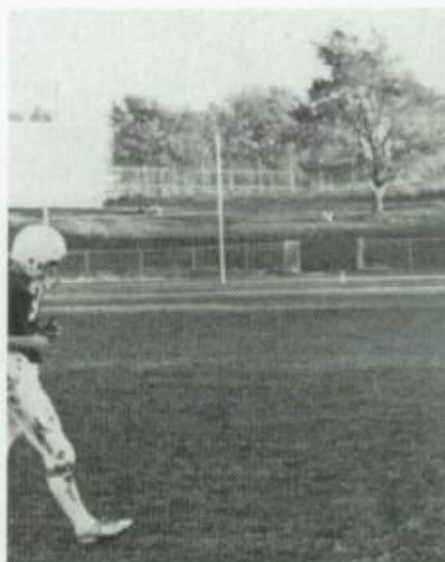

Similar to the Varsity, the J.V. was close to victory several times but fell short virtually every time. The major reason for the losing record was attributed to the fact that they only practiced together three times; Varsity practice came first.

Sophomores End Prosperous Year

The sophomore black and white football teams combined to achieve a final record of 9-9 for the 1980 season. The black team completed the season with an impressive 6-3 record. The white team did not fare quite as well as their counterparts in posting a 3-6 finish.

There were sixty-three boys out for sophomore football this season. The black team was led by Eric Dorsey in the role of quarterback and Jim McCune, fullback. McCune saw action in two varsity games as the result of varsity injuries. The white team proceeded under the leadership of Matt Siuda, quarterback.

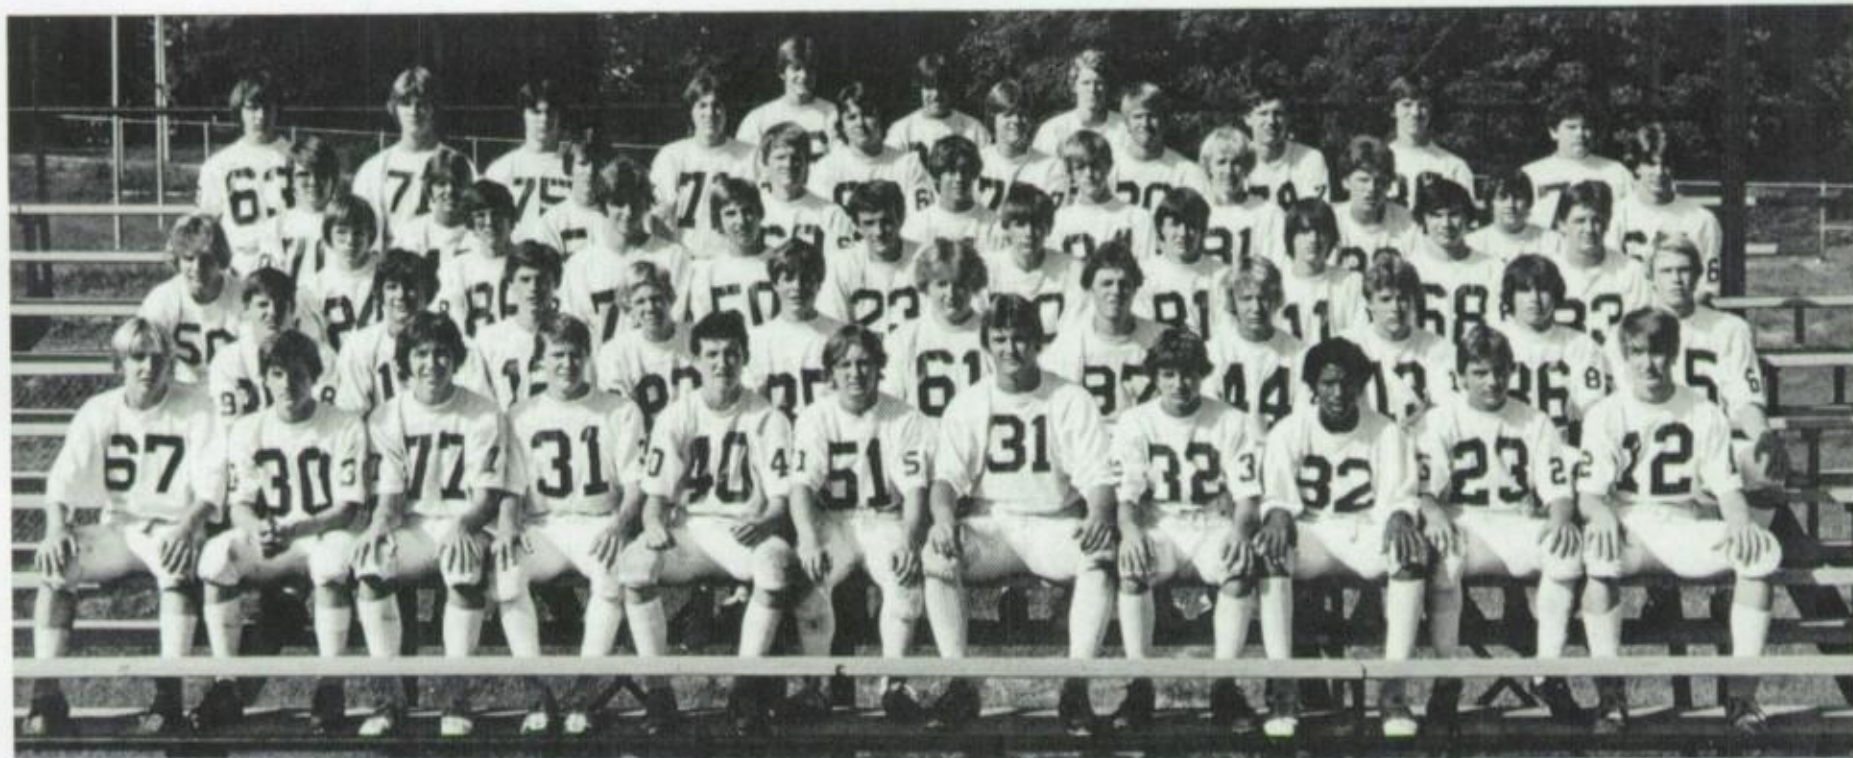

The sophomore coaches were George Bloomster, Rusty Newman, Tom LeBar, and Doug Brown. The objective of the coaches was to mold the young men into varsity material by developing strength, technique, and physical skills.

Soccer Rolling Right Along

In only its second year as a sport at SM East, soccer gained tremendous ground. Not only did the team improve, but the sport itself was more publicized and therefore more noticed by the public.

The varsity team, under the direction of head coach Les Parrish and assistant coach Everett Rees, claimed an impressive record of 12-6-1. This year's victories were tripled from those of the year before.

Seniors Kevin Gasser and Chuck Robertson acted as co-captains and led the team through many exhausting practices and exciting games.

An excellent soccer team should be well balanced. This was one of the Lancers' strengths. They'd had experience which produced quality players. Skills a good soccer player needs are endurance, speed, agility, and control. These were all taught and practiced over and over again through drills.

JV Soccer Catching Up

Although the JV soccer team's season wasn't as victorious as the varsity's, it was still greatly improved.

A stronger spirit of teamanship existed between players which made it easier to work together as one unit.

Putting in long hours of practice every day after school required true dedication and discipline on everyone's part.

Coaches Parrish and Rees headed the JV team along with the varsity. Winning more or less half their games, JV worked basically on control.

Funk Helps Runners to Record Season

Led by the Sunflower League champion, senior Cary Funk, SM East's boys' cross country team experienced one of its most successful seasons.

The team included three returning lettermen: seniors Funk and Bill Reckling and junior David Wiggins.

The team's only first place came at the Wyandotte Invitational Meet. Funk, Wiggins, and senior Scott Sullins all finished in the top ten. Coach Karl Englund said that "it is our best overall meet to date."

However, the team later beat SM South at the Sunflower League Meet. The narrow two point victory represented SM East's first boys' cross country win against South since 1967. At the meet, Funk was first, and Wiggins was second.

Funk placed in the top four in all meets. He set a school record in the KC Southeast Invitational.

Girls' X-Country Meets Challenges

Contending with the loss of top runners and a low turnout, the 1980 girls' cross country team met these and other challenges to finish with a good overall record and several outstanding individual performances.

Along with returning lettermen Shelley Shepard, senior, and Jan Unruh, junior, newcomer Jackie Lewis, junior, led the girls. Mid-season help arrived with the addition of sophomore Jennifer Newman and juniors Nicole Cowley and Liane Kimura.

Lewis finished in the top five in five out of seven meets. She placed second in the opening quadrangular meet Unruh's season high came at the quadrangular when she grabbed second place. The team's high point was at the Wyandotte Invitational. Unruh finished third, while Lewis followed in fourth place. This assisted the team to a first place finish.

The girls received second at the quadrangular meet. The team ran at Sunflower league and placed third.

At league competition, Lewis received third place. In Manhattan at State, she placed eighth

Varsity Girl Netters Clean Up at State

For the eleventh consecutive year, the SM East girls' tennis team participated in the State competition. The team brought home three medals, more than any other school in Kansas, according to coach Carolyn Howard.

The team won the SM district tournament for the second consecutive year, placed second in the East Invitational Tournament, and won the Sunflower League Championship for the fourth year in a row. The Lancers were victorious in the Kansas Regionals and qualified six team members for State.

The winners at State were Susan Panther, Who won third place in singles; Liz Jones, who received fourth in singles; the team of Julie Flynn and Sarah Newlin, who won third place in doubles; and the combination of Amy Freisen and Alise Willson, who finished in the top eight.

Golfers Win State

Despite a string of injuries and sickness, the girls' golf team placed first in the Sunflower League and second in regionals. The ladies finished the year successfully defending their state championship for the third consecutive time.

Qualifying for state requires placing in the top three teams at regionals. Three of the six SM East entrants received medalist honors. They were Elizabeth Smart, placing second, Shelley Osborne, seventh, the other three entrants were Lynn Hodges, Stephanie Osborne and Amy Stepp.

The girls were led by head coach Norris Stauffer. Stauffer labored the first part of the year without his number one golfer, Elizabeth Smart, who competed in the LPGA Golf Tournament and was ineligible for a brief period of time.

Volleyball Excels

Teamwork was the key of a highly successful season for SM East's girls' volleyball. Sweeping third place at State, the team proved to be the best in the history of SM East.

Spiking, setting, and bumping are all mandatory skills for each player. However, if these moves are not precisely coordinated as a team, their value is little.

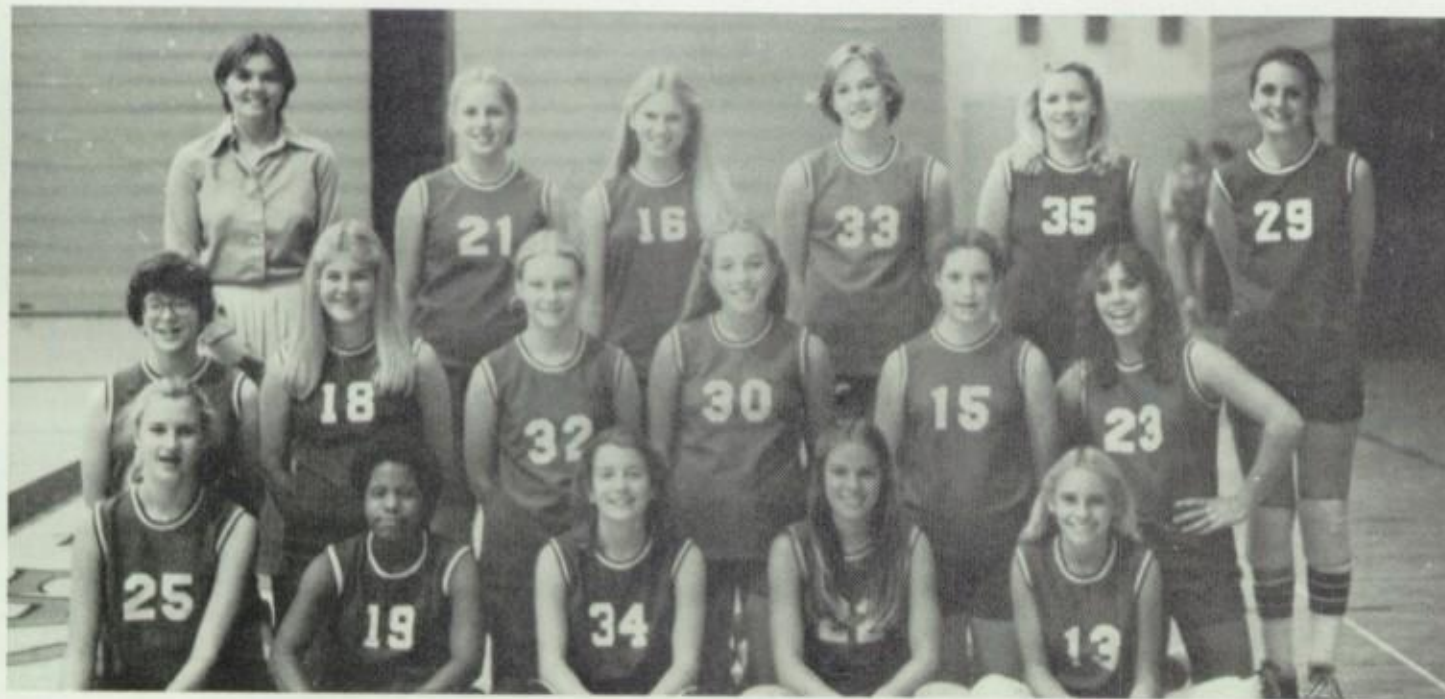

Outstanding players on the varsity level, led by coach Christal Hamann, were seniors Tamra Knapp, Angie Ninci, and Martha Schneider. The final record of 24-9 verified their talent.

The JV and sophomore teams performed excellently, also. They both took first place in the Lawrence Invitational. The two sophomore teams, coached by Maureen Niggle, improved greatly throughout the year.

Lancer Matmen Predict Prosperous Future

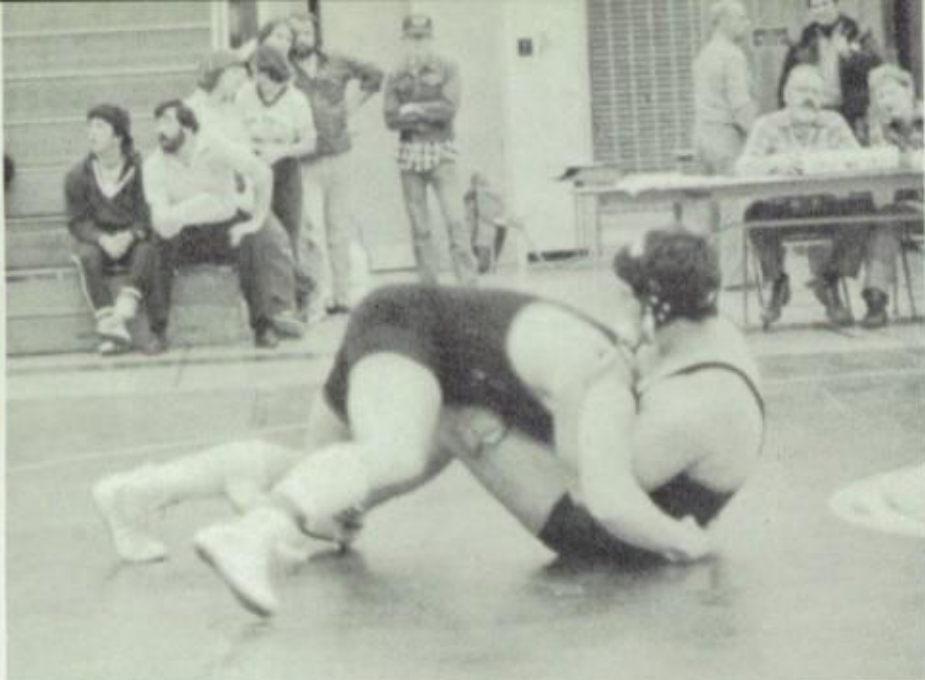

The SM East 1980-81 boys' wrestling squad, under third year coach Mark DeVore, showed pride and determination throughout the entire season. Beginning in mid-November, the team, consisting of almost entirely sophomores and juniors, put in many long hours of work to prepare for their season. After competing in the district tournament, two East wrestlers, junior Kent Erickson and senior Tod Cohen, qualified for sub-state.

Although rather disappointed with the outcome of the season, Coach DeVore feels that the team next year will be better because it will consist of more returning wrestlers.

Mr. DeVore also commented on the fact that this years' wrestlers received lots of support, by both parents and fellow Lancers. The organization of the new wrestling cheerleader squad helped to create new interest in East wrestlers.

The record for the 1980-81 boys' varsity basketball team was 9-10. The team's captains were Dan Moylan and Steve Mulcahy, seniors. The other five seniors on the team were Bill Boyd, Rob Deay, Ron Godwin, Paul Schulte, and Dan Stechschulte.

Lancer head coach Dale Graham, after his second year as head coach for SM East, said, "The players this year were hard workers, there is no doubt about that."

East played in the hardest regionals in the state, according to Graham. "Wyandotte was our toughest competition during the season," Graham said.

Graham described the East-South game as "great." He said, "Our win over South was a big victory for the team and for the whole school. I think it was our biggest crowd all season."

In the Sunflower League, East was expected to finish last, Graham said, but instead the team ended its season in second place.

Cagers' Records Show Victories

The sophomore and JV boys' basketball teams both had good seasons.

The sophomore team's record for the regular season stood at 7-12. Coach Rick Royer said, "I've seen a lot of things I wanted to with this team. They've grown and learned the program."

The JV team ended their season with a 11-5 record. Out of the ten players, seven were juniors and three were sophomores, according to Coach John Oman. "They had height, played well and had a good record," Oman said. "Even though there is still room for improvement, this is probably one of the most talented teams I've ever coached at the JV level."

Lancers Turn It Around

The girls varsity basketball team made a surprisingly strong comeback this year with a 12-7 record. Considering the record of the previous year, 1-18, the Lancers turned it around. At one time they were ranked as number eight in the greater Kansas City area.

Guided by seniors Amy Stepp, Tamra Knapp, and Nancy Blauch, the sophomores on the team excelled. Sarah Morris, sophomore, proved to be the leading scorer in the Sunflower League.

The team was basically stronger this year due to many reasons. Veteran coach Dick Furman and tight defense were two major factors. There is a hopeful outlook for next year's team.

Girls Look Ahead to Next Season

Although the JV and sophomore girls basketball teams didn't fare quite as well as the varsity, they felt improvement was made in many fundamental areas.

Lead by new coach Nancy Smith, JV was compromised of juniors, Shantelle Heitbrink, Mary Ann Marrison, Arlene Legaspi, Jessica Hirsch, Liz Bergman, and Kacie Solbeck. Sophomores Alise Wilson and Jennifer Munson added their skills to strengthen the team.

Stiff competition forced the girls to perfect the basics. Both individual and team skills were worked on during the daily two hour practice.

The sophomore squad needed practice working together as a team, but generally did well in separate skills. The opportunity to play basketball was enjoyed and enthusiasm abounded.

Swimmers Find Success

Under the direction of coach Andy Anderson the 1980-81 boys' swim team had a successful season, losing only one dual meet at SM South.

The team topped its season off by finishing second at league, behind South, and fourth at State. Of the 24 swimmers and 4 divers out for the team, twelve qualified for the state meet. All four divers, John Newman, Phil Janasz, Tom Babb and Mike Irish along with senior swimmers Cary Funk, Jack Gingrich, Howard Holman, Dirk Marshall, Bart Robertson, junior Chuck Horner, and sophomore Rick Norden competed in the meet.

Marshall finished first in both the 100 fly and 200 IM while setting a new state record in the fly. The boys 200 medley relay team of Frost, Gingrich, Marshall, and Horner also took fourth place in the finals of that event. Newman finished as East's top fiver placing second while Irish won the fifth place position.

Coach Anderson commented, "The guys did very well and overall we had a great season." Anderson also added that the divers, coached by Nancy Samuel, and a strong team and a good season.

Swimmers Seek Title

Looking forward to a successful season, the Lancer girls' swim team began with an outstanding turnout of 91 girls. The team anticipates its sixth state championship under the direction of coach Carolyn Howard.

Team captain Scotti Hopkins commented, "Everyone is working out hard and we're all enthusiastic about the season.. We should do well at the state meet."

Hopkins, who is the Lancers' only returning state champion, leads the senior varsity returning lettermen, Jenny Lycan, Leslee Spencer, Jennifer VanDyke, Cricket Wood, and Julie Killion.

Incoming sophomores Nancy Lycan and Marjorie Spencer are expected to be great assets to the team, as they have years of experience with outside swimming programs.

The Lancer divers also anticipate a successful season. Senior divers Dana Pace and Kathy Peterson along with juniors Jodi Sayler, and sophomores Alexis Faulkner and Julie Sayler will all prove valuable to the East girls' diving team this season.

Boys' Track, As Usual, Successful

Under the guidance of five competent coaches, several athletes were expected to excel tremendously in the events of track and field. Sprint coach, Karl Englund, relied heavily on seniors, Dudley Hutcherson and Chip Cooper; sophomore Doug Hedrick also provided strength. Cary Funk, senior, completed his third consecutive, solid year running long-distance events. With the help of Dan Haraughty, juniors Layne Funk and Shawn Hunter finished prosperously. Through the guidance of Corky Jacobs and Steve Rainbolt, seniors Adam James and Bob Riekof also ended successfully. In the field events of jumping, Chuck Sulzen watched seniors David Smith and Chip Cooper and sophomore Doug Hedrick leap to the limit.

When asked why he ran track, senior, Scott Sullens replied, "I enjoy competing on both individual and team levels."

Girls' Track Prevails Without Due Credit

Girls' track, as in years past, went unduly without proper recognition. Although there were fewer girls this spring than last, these girls tried their best. Long-distance relays were a long suit for the Lancers. John Haraughty had fine relay teams using the running abilities of senior Caryne Finlay, juniors Jackie Lewis, Jan Unrue, and Ann Bernard, and sophomore, Sandy White. Karl Englund was fortunate in having seniors, Shelley Shepard and Jennifer Sperry return; junior Kathy Rossi also provided strength in varsity experience possessed by members in all of the phases of the program. Juniors Nancy Carolyn and Margaret Grein and sophomore Sandy White progressed better than expected.

Assistant head coach, Bill Boley was and had reason to be proud of his girls' performances. When asked why she ran track Shepard responded, "I enjoy running and the challenge that it presents. Bernard was bitter in stating, "Girls' teams practice just as hard as boys', but they get all of the attention and recognition. Shepard later quoted last year senior Deenya Rabijs, "Track is like a liverwurst sandwich and every practice is a bite!" Although practices may have been taxing, all had a good time.

"We lost our doubles State champions from last year but gained a promising sophomore, Harry Spilker," Berg remarked. "Other teams have lost more players than we have, so I expect us to have a successful season."

The Lancer boys' tennis team has won State in singles and/or doubles 15 times out of the last 16 years.

According to Coach Berg, SM Northwest will be SM East's toughest competition. "SM South will be another top competitor," commented Berg.

Boys Golf Team Proves Strong

The boys golf team eagerly anticipated a prosperous season this year. With the experience of returning lettermen Tom Nickels, Doug Poisner, Doug Jewett, Eric Englund, and Steve Bickley, the team promised to be a strong one. Sophomores Mike Smith and Bill Shackleford also added depth. Practices were held at area golf courses after school, weather permitting. The two hours of daily work benefited all.

Led by coach Norris Stauffer, the golf team tried endlessly for holes-in-ones, birdies, pars, and even bogeys. Senior Steve Bickley said that he was looking forward to being a member of one of the best teams in the state.

Boys' Baseball Anticipates Title

As in previous years, the 1981 boys' baseball team is expected to finish towards the top of the final standings. A major reason for the optimistic prediction comes from the returning one year lettermen, Dan Jensen, Paul Fazio, Packy Baker, Cliff King, Doug Elliot, and Bill Boyd. Phil Doherty, the only returning second year letterman, who has drawn immense attention from professional scouts, is an additional factor creating speculation of a promising season.

Rusty Newman had a record 112 young men sign up for tryouts in this, his fifth year as coach. He expects the actual turn out to be closer to 70 conscientious, competitive athletes. After finishing fourth and second in the last two years, Newman hopes for the title.

Softball Prepares for 1981 Season

The 1981 SM East girls' softball team utilized the late winter weeks to ready for a successful spring season.

Leadership was provided by returning junior varsity coach Maureen Niggle and new varsity coach Dave Fleming. The new mentor received his experience at SM West and a college stint at Fort Hays State University.

The team was dealt a severe blow with the loss of a strong senior lineup. However, Niggle believed that the team could compensate. A strong crop of promising sophomores went out for softball, and an excellent nucleus of juniors returned.

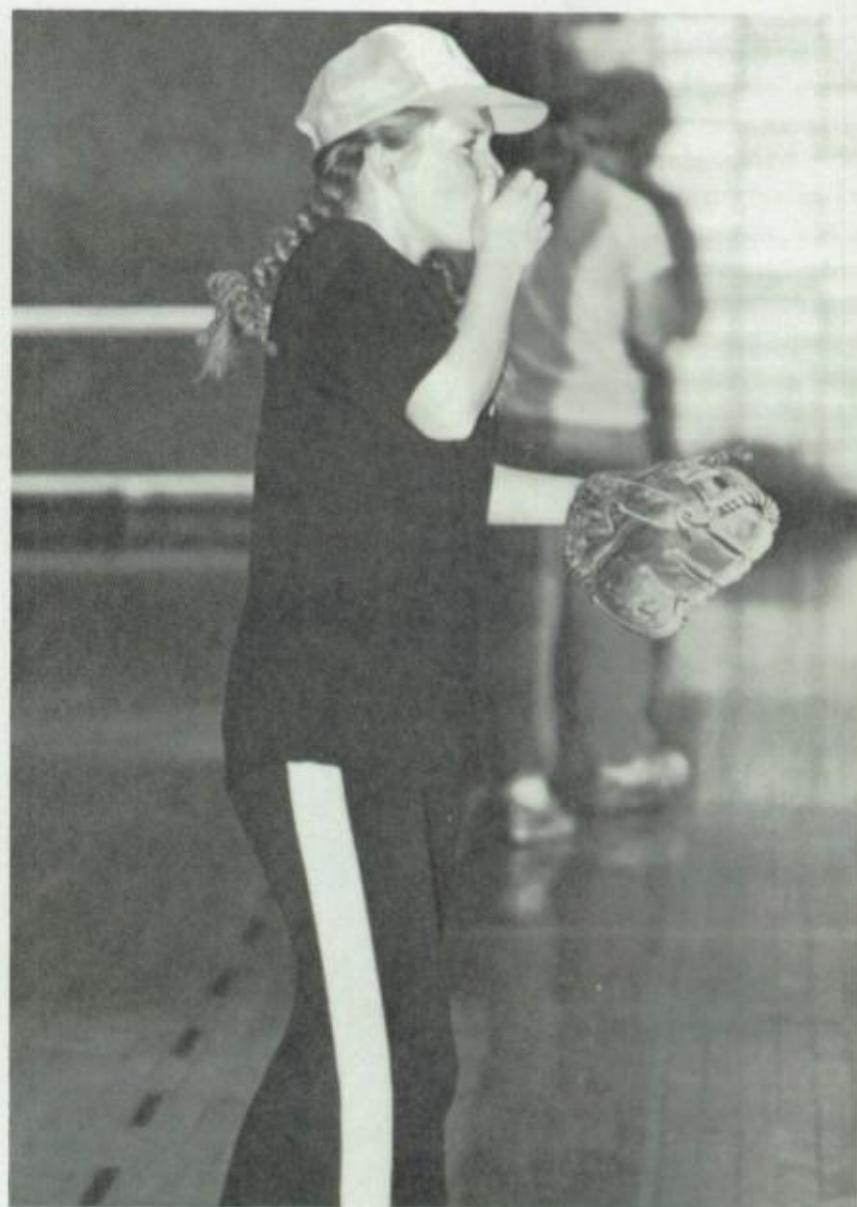

Niggle said that the 1981 season would entail lots of hard work, yet felt State was a realistic goal.

New Students Adapt Easily to SM East

Being a new student at Shawnee Mission East means that one must adjust to a new educational system which stresses involvement in school activities and academics. East offers many extracurricular activities to become involved with in order to meet other people. As a school of over 1600 students, many opportunities arise for people to meet.

Sophomore Mike Jewell transferred back to the Shawnee Mission district from Goddard, Kansas second semester. Jewell said in a comparison between East and Goddard students, "The kids in Goddard are stuckup and harder to get to know. I really like people at East because they are easier to get along with."

Jewell made suggestions for a lunch program at East which would be modeled after the program he had in his California school. "I think they should let us eat outside when it's nice."

The mixture of students' background at East gives the school a wide variety in the student body which adds to the personality of East.

Mike Jewell does his algebra.

"My swimming has given me the opportunity to travel across the US since I was 13," stated SM East Soph. Nancy Lycan. Lycan has been in competitive swimming for many years and has been ranked eighth in the nation among women in the 100 meter breastroke event.

"I'm really excited about getting to swim high school this year. My old school didn't have a girls' team, and it will be fun to swim with my school friends."

Lycan also added that she would enjoy representing East in the State meet against other Kansas high schools this year.

Easy Adjustment for Noll

Linda Noll, sophomore, found making the transition to high school relatively easy. "It wasn't that hard of a switch," she stated. "I thought the building was huge and I wondered how I'd ever get to class on time, though."

One reason Noll enjoyed SM East her first year, was the chance to meet many people. She quickly became involved in forensics and debate.

She admitted occasionally feeling lost, especially during the lunch crowd.

"Talking to people" is what Amy Farrar, sophomore, enjoys most. She participates in gymnastics and will tryout for drill team, golf, and swim team. "Because," explained Farrar, "I like it and it keeps me in good shape."

About the people at East, Farrar said her "old friends seem to have changed, but I guess I expected that when people grow up. But, I have met a lot of new people."

In her spare time, Farrar rides her horses. She has been riding since she was five.

Prep Reigns

The SM East Lancers could have been named the SM East Gators by the number of reptiles roaming the halls during the 80-81 year.

The Izod alligator was worn as the symbol of fashion by the students at East as the "Preppy" look took over.

Designer jeans and buttondown shirts were also worn as a symbol of status. Plaids were definitely "in" and could be seen on everything from skirts to pants to purses.

Argyle sweaters and monograms were popular and cuffed pants and pennyloafers also made a return among the Lancers.

Citing such reasons as its historical aspects, junior Rob Southall explained his enjoyment of his unusual hobby, passenger liners.

Southall has focused most of his attention on the Titanic, Queen Mary, and Queen Elizabeth. He became interested in this area in grade school when he read A Night to Remember, a novel about the Titanic. Along with his books and models, he was a member of the Titanic Historical Society, Southall was also on Catagories.

SM East junior Jessica Hirsch, like many juniors, looks forward to graduating from East and going on to college. "I feel like high school is hindering my education. They teach us how to read and write, but not really how to communicate, get along in the world with other people, and how to enjoy life."

According to Hirsch, "That's what college is all about." Hirsch did however admit "I guess if you have to go to high school, East is the best place. They try to make it fun."

One of the year's best concerts was given by Bruce Springsteen and the E Street Band at Kemper Arena on Feb. 5. These pictures show drummer Max Weinburg, Springsteen, and sax man Clarence Clemons playing for a crowd of 12,000.

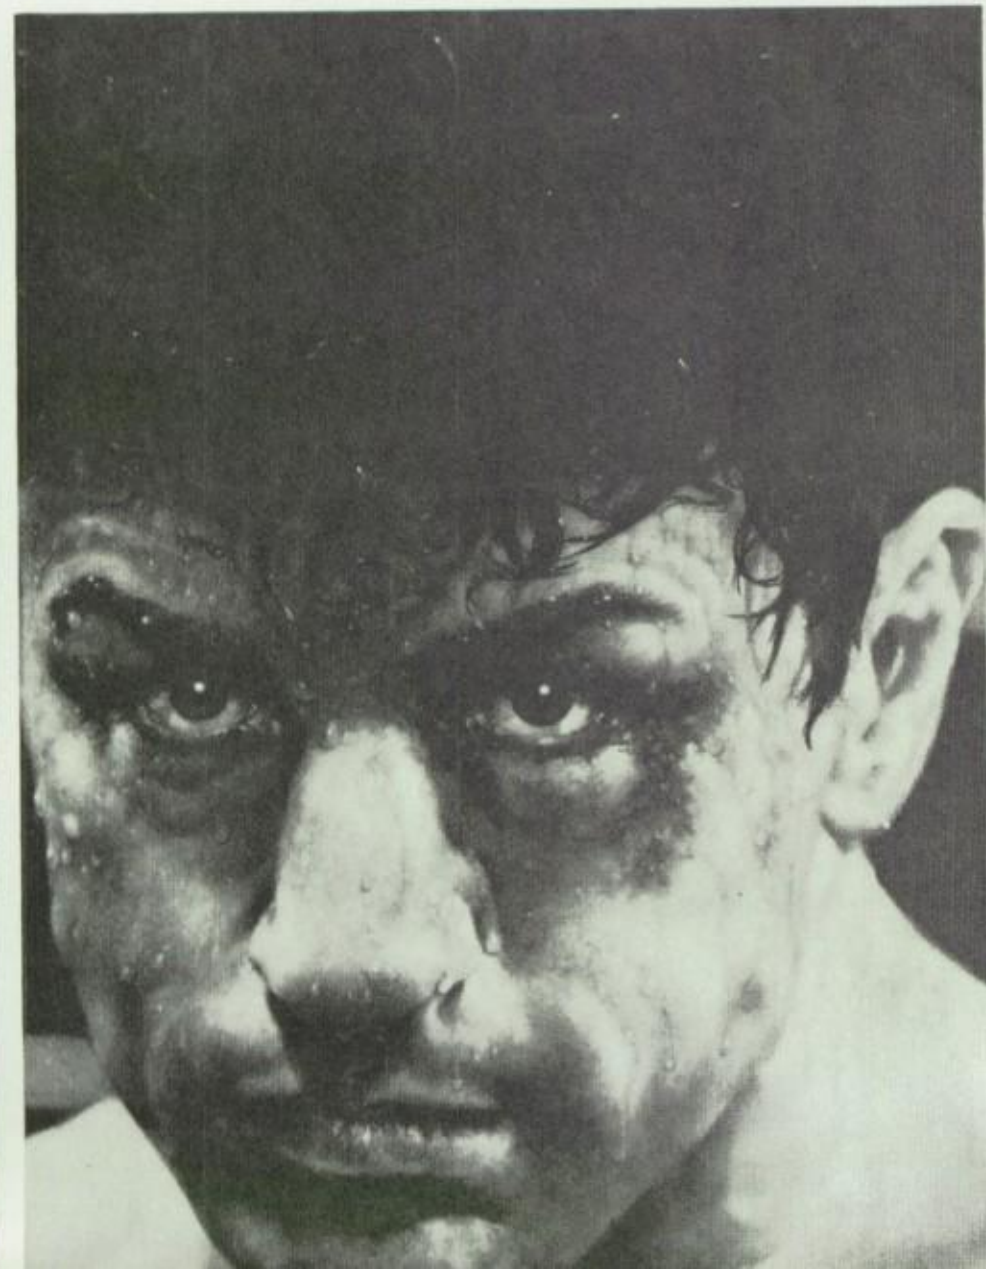

Movies, Music Summed Up

Musical and cinematic performances during 1980 and 1981 were diverse in styles, subject matter, and quality. Tastes of East students seemed clearly defined. Rock music and films with great amounts of action and comedy were the obvious favorites. A Hauberk poll conducted of 453 students established their preferences in film and music. The ten best albums released from June 1980 to February 1981 according to the survey are pictured on page 187. The five most popular films of the same period were: "Ordinary People", "Seems Like Old Times", "The Jazz Singer", "Caddyshack" and "The Empire Strikes Back." Films which also received munerous votes included "Brubaker", and "The Blues Brothers." Also mentioned as noteworthy albums were the Eagles "Live" album and Pat Benetar's "Crimes of Passion."

Above: Robert Duvall, as Marine pilot Bull Meechum, tries to outplay his son (Michael O'Keefe) in a scene from "The Great Santini." Below: Robert DeNiro sweats it out in the ring as prizefighter Jake La Motta in "Raging Bull."

In Becky Boggs' eyes, being a junior was hard since "more is expected of you. Next year, you'll be a senior!"

Still, Boggs enjoyed her second year. Despite the hard work she continued to participate on the girls' swim team. "The discipline has carried over into the rest of my life. It's helped me to become a more organized person."

Looking at . . .

Bill Shonacher, SM East senior, who recently moved from Louisiana stated, "Kansas is a much nicer place to live than New Orleans."

Bill plans to attend the University of Kansas where he intends to pursue his career in business administration and pre-law.

Presently Bill has enlisted in the Marine reserve and will serve for four years.

He said, "Doing well is more important to the students at East than at my old school."

Decade Brings Changes to East

ELDON EVANS—Kansas State Teachers College, B.S., M.S.; University of Maryland. Drama Stagecraft. Thespian Sponsor.

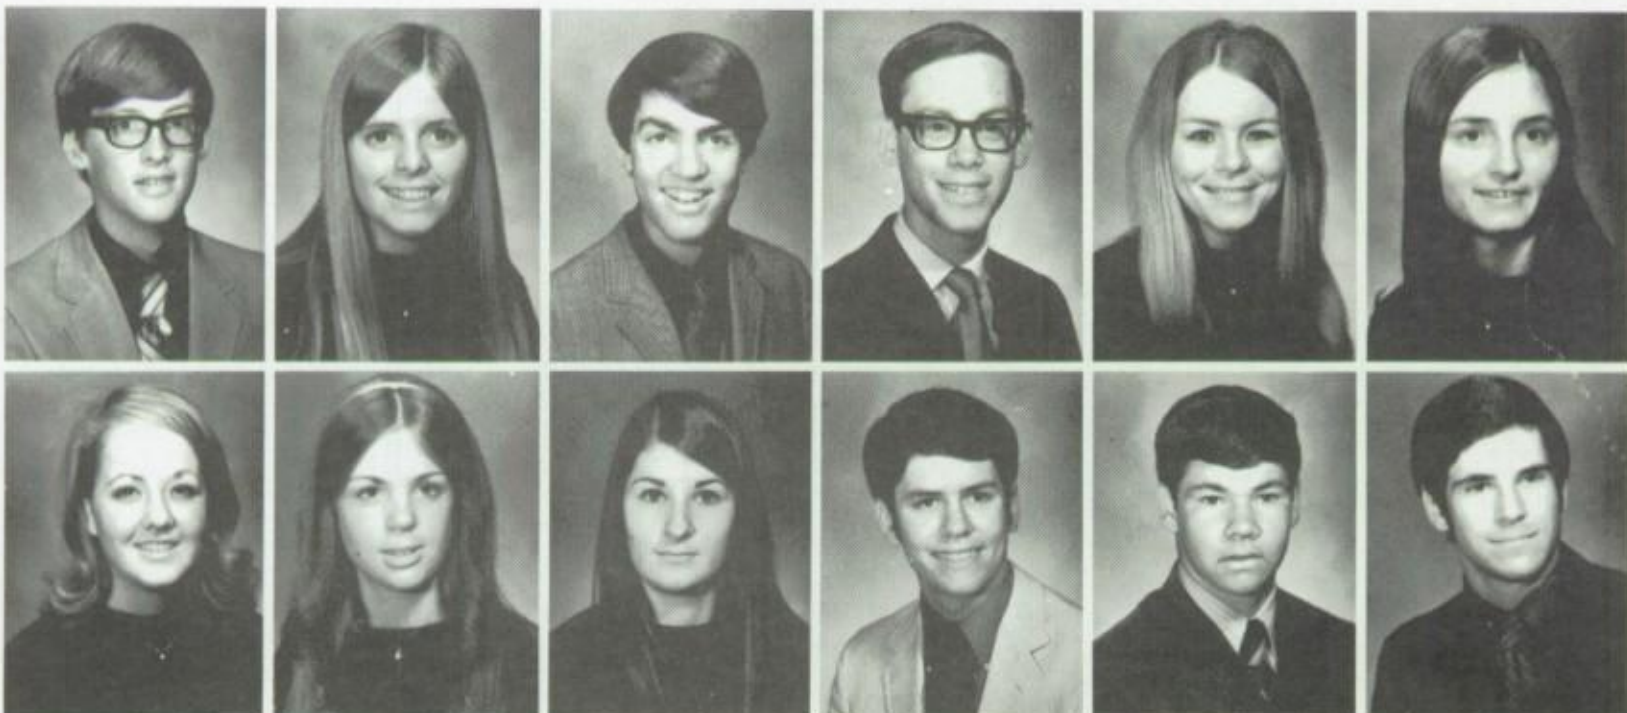

The last decade has brought many changes to SM East as it has to the world. The years from 1971-1981 were filled with drastic changes in the lifestyle of most Americans.

Social science teacher Eldon Evans reflects, "Prior to '71 hair/dress codes were really stressed at East. Guys could not wear beards and their hair had to be off the collar. Girls had to wear dresses. When they stopped using hair/dress codes coming to school was like going to a costume party. Everyone dressed really bizarre at first."

Evans also stated that '71 was like an experimental time, where they broke traditions to try new things.

According to Evans the kid's attitudes were difficult because of the 'generation gap.' "It was the students against the teachers and the school system. The national attitude was anti-war, the kids were anti-school."

Administration Achieves Individual Goals

SM East's administrators' 1980-81 goal was to work together and individually with a unique set of responsibilities. This goal was reached as they combined their own educational talents to coordinate the needs of the entire school.

Acting as top administrator, Dr. James Sandfort, principal, was responsible for leading other administrators, faculty and the entire student body.

Dr. Arthur Newcomer, associate principal, had the responsibility as director of athletics. Dr. Jerry Abbot and Dr. Sheila Dahling organized curriculum and student affairs, respectively.

The theme selected for this year was "Lancer Pride—School Wide!". The administrative staff worked many long hours to accomplish this difficult goal.

Dr. Arzell L. Ball, superintendent

Super Guides

Under the guidance of Superintendent Dr. Arzell Ball, SM East along with the other five district schools operated smoothly during the 1980-81 year.

In trying to colate and unify the Shawnee Mission Schools, Ball was aided by several area Superintendents. Dr. James Foster presided over the East area.

Office Staff Serves as a Link

The office staff serves as a connecting element between the student body and the administration. Permanent records and the data processing procedures are the responsibilities of Mrs. Woolworth. Mrs. Hays, who also handles permanent records and transcripts, commented, "It is a hard job; it takes a lot of time, but, it's got its compensations." The bookkeeper, Mrs. Thomas, organizes SM East's monetary affairs. The principals' secretaries, Mrs. Ericson and Mrs. James, "take care of all correspondence" including the announcements and all of the newsletters. Mrs. Krebs receives and transmits all daily messages besides controlling the entire intercom system and taking all calls. Sending out transcripts, recommendations and college applications is handled by the counselors' secretary, Mrs. VanPelt. She commented that, "the kids make my job interesting; everyday at Shawnee Mission East you will run across something unusual."

Ditching Reduced By Overhauled Policy

The attendance center overhauled its policy for the 80-81 school year. The yellow excused slips were omitted along with the students' responsibility for assuring the completion of unexcused slips. Role was taken first hour and sent to the center. During the remaining six hours, the teachers were required to keep track of the absences and to submit the results to the center. Mrs. Shirley Frame, who managed the policy drawn by Dr. Dahling, claimed that her working was increased, but the amount of time taken by teachers decreased.

Mrs. Mary Dorn, SM East's efficient nurse, handled students' health in her own caring way. Thanks to Mary Dorn and her efficient aides, the condition of health was never better.

Officer Pappenfort assumed the duties of any fine officer by issuing parking tickets and perpetually controlling the traffic in the lot.

PTA Sponsors Programs to Aid School

The Parent Teacher Association of SM East was indispensable to the school this year. A membership of approximately 1,300 people meant that nearly 80 percent of the parents were members of the PTA.

The PTA sponsored many events this year. Last fall's college clinic was a hard job yet came off a success. Cultural Arts week, the after-Prom party, parent coffees, and a newsletter which was distributed every other month were all responsibilities of the PTA. With the help of the Student Council and the administration, the PTA adopted their Alcohol Education Program. According to Joyce Whitehead, PTA president, the purpose was to "sponsor events which got the parents involved and made them aware of the alcohol problem at East."

Officers of the 1980-81 PTA were Joyce Whitehead, president; Marcia Jacobs, first vice-president; Barbara McConahay, second vice-president; Mary Ann Miller, recording secretary; Corky Dick, corresponding secretary; and Flossie Siuda, treasurer.

SM East custodians Rudy Rodriguez and Ray Dobbs pause to pose.

Crews Strive

Keeping the school running smoothly and efficiently was the basic duty of the custodial and cafeteria personnel. Often times they acted as an unseen work force, taking care of important and necessary jobs, which are overlooked by many.

The custodians could always be found for a helping hand. They assisted in moving athletic equipment and in opening otherwise inaccessible parts of the building to grateful students.

The cafeteria's responsibilities were serving nutritious tasty meals to hundreds. The hours of planning and preparation weren't noticed by most Lancers.

English Faculty Enlighten Juniors with Literature

Sophomore and junior English classes strove to give students a solid background in language. Sophomores spent one to two quarters reviewing grammar and sentence structure just to make sure they had it down pat. Then, moving on to more difficult items, they tackled various works such as A Separate Peace, "The Crucible," and "Julius Ceasar." Soon the five paragraph expository theme was introduced and they started to form writing skills.

Juniors divided their time between English authors and American authors.

They noted the contrasts of Truman Capote to William Shakespeare, of Mark Twain to Henry David Thoreau. Juniors also spent much of their time writing. They delved deeper into the basic theme.

Other courses offered in the language arts department were fundamentals of English grammar and reading improvement. They were designed for students with specialized needs.

Seniors Well Prepared

Mastering the ability to communicate through written work was the major goal of this year's senior English classes. Various methods of obtaining this power were tried.

A small amount of grammar review was necessary at the beginning of the year. English 12 was an elective class for students who already had four credits of language arts. It was extremely popular, and classes were full.

The book, How to Build a More Powerful Vocabulary in Thirty Days (commonly shortened to "30 Days") was introduced in September. Many students believe it was an invaluable tool in taking the SAT and ACT tests. Words such as obsequious, rusticate, and circe were regularly heard from conversing seniors.

Assorted compositions were assigned to prepare seniors for the rigors of freshman English they would face next year at college. Literature varying from Othello to Ethan Frome was read to strengthen general knowledge.

Social Science Prepares Students

The purpose of the Social Science department, according to Eldon Evans, Social Science teacher, is "to equip students to understand the society in which they live, to understand the social processes involved in changing that society, and to prepare them to live in that society."

The Social Science requirements for graduation are either a year of American history and a semester of American government or six quarters of American studies. Evans explained the difference between the two programs. "American history and government are chronological in their approach while the approach to American studies is thematic."

Renovations Surface

Over the past few years, many changes and renovations in the science department have occurred. New classes and instructors have arrived, and new innovations are expected.

Phil Childress, chemistry instructor, said, "I think science is necessary to live safely in today's world. With few new innovations and a lack of prepared people, I think we will see an influx of new science students."

Commenting on the value of science, department chairman Leroy Anderson said, "Science is a disciplined study. You will always need those disciplined skills."

John Burkholder was added to the staff. The teaching of Applied Science was divided evenly this year.

Math Department Scores High

Enrollment in math courses at SM East is the highest in the district. An 88 per cent participation rate reflects the high goals and standards of the student body, who are "mainly preparing for college level math," according to Phil Berg, math department chairman.

The different levels of math build upon each other. Reason and deduction form the basis of math which then serves as the foundation of scientific logic. In everyday situations people use logic for making decisions. Usually, it is a background for college math.

"SM East has maintained the high standards of the past. The TAP scores have always been among the highest in every field of math in the district," commented Berg. Berg said, "This is due to the interest of the students, the quality of the teachers, and the stability of the department."

Six East Polyglots Spread the Word

SM East's foreign language classes gave students not only an opportunity to study the languages of other countries but provided some exposure to foreign literature, background, and culture as well. The main concern of foreign language students was mastering skills in reading, writing, and understanding their second tongue. For those seeking extra aid in their studies, a language resource center was available, proving itself to be very helpful.

The foreign language staff was comprised of six highly qualified instructors. Teaching French were Miriam Lutz, third, fifth, and sixth, Laure Cheung, second and fourth and Harriet Dunn, first year. Students enrolled in beginning Spanish were taught by Miss Dunn. Maralin Noble taught those students who took Spanish two, four, and five while Nora Pinkston taught students in the second, third, and sixth year of this language. Five years of German study were offered at East this year; these were taught by Joel Nagel.

Fine Arts Allow for Student Expression

Bryce York explains the situation to senior Charles McKee.

Entertaining the student body while allowing members to experience performance, the Fine Arts department again, this year displayed many creative talents. The department included debate, drama, speech, forensics, stage craft, actor's studio and repertory theatre.

Max Brown, Larry Brown, and Bryce York headed the department and guided the students in their production of two successful plays, "You Can't Take it With You", "The Diary of Anne Frank", and the year's musical "The Music Man".

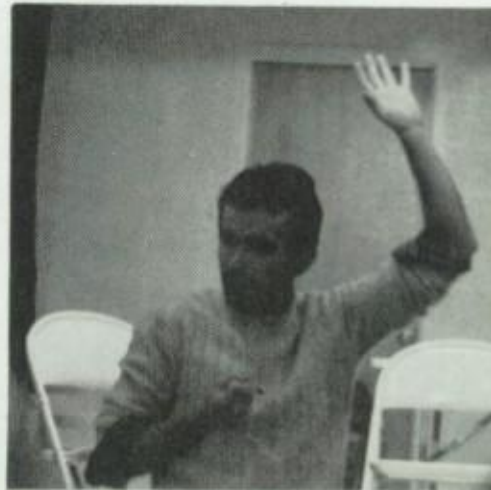

Students were awarded points for participation in the Fine Arts program. After they accumulated ten points they were awarded and initiated into Thespians, a Fine Arts honor organization. Points could also be earned by helping with behind-the-scene crews and props.

Talented Instructors Lead Music Groups

The music department at SM East presented a wide variety of performances this year, a result of the leadership of Al Hanna, Ken Tebow, and Dan Zollars.

The marching band, led by Hanna, was the highlight of many varsity football games, but the pep band took over for basketball season and assemblies. In addition, Hanna directed the symphonic and concert bands and a jazz ensemble called the Blue Knights.

Tebow conducted the orchestra at East. There are actually two orchestras at East: the string orchestra and a concert orchestra which contains woodwinds.

All SM East choirs were directed by Zollars. These included the chamber singers, the choraliers, and the concert, sophomore, and girls' choirs.

Music letters were awarded to those students who demonstrated outstanding achievement in their musical endeavors. Several East students were selected for all-state music groups.

New Program Offered

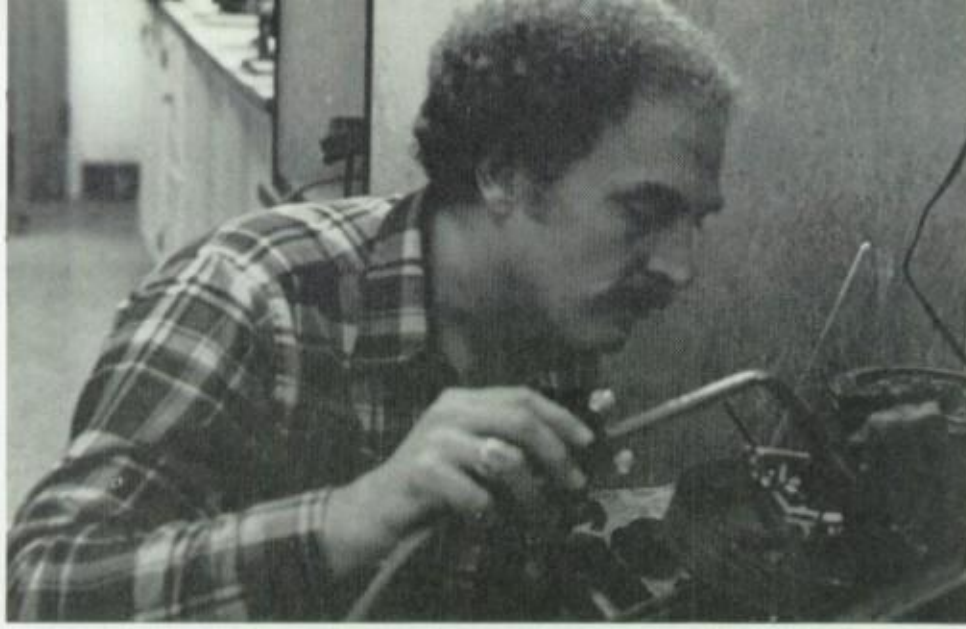

The PSA, personal and social adjustments, served as a type of resource center for approximately twenty-four SM East students. Marie Dillon, sponsor of this new class, preferred to refer to this program as an achievement center where students who found difficulty in adjusting to regular classroom situations can receive special assistance.

Mrs. Dillon also, if requested, set up a monitoring system for parents who desired information as to how their child was progressing.

Pupils Enjoy

As SM East home economics students explore the areas of food, clothing, and child development, they also receive a great deal of pleasure and relaxation, stated Rosemary Gasper, department chairman.

A few students continue with home ec. as a career, usually teaching. Despite the lack of career emphasis, all of the teachers stated that they find their jobs very enjoyable.

Gasper said that she would like to see some clothing classes receive two hour time blocks like child development.

Center Helps

The learning center provided supportive help for those students needing it. Some of the learning center's duties included teaching individualized classes, having a work study program, and assisting students from foreign countries.

While concentrating on many specialized programs, the learning center utilized basic reinforcement to aid students.

Students who were mainstreamed also used the learning center as a base. Many student aides added their time to improve it.

Library, A.V. Provide Resources

SM East's library and audio visual department offered the students and faculty a vast amount of resources for their work and pleasure. John Sappenfield headed the audio visual department. The librarians included Jan Wood and Polly Reichardt.

With the assistance of 13 aides, the two librarians maintained over 2,300 volumes. Other frequently used materials were magazines, newspapers, clippings, pamphlets, records, plays, filmstrips, and debate materials.

Two new additions to the library were a check out desk and medieval music manuscripts. The East library had many special collections: Diane Bailey, Maurice Swanson, professional, and alcohol education.

Sappenfield and his many aides, who were headed by David Brandt, A.V. Club president, serviced the faculty and student body in many ways. All audio visual equipment from filmstrip projectors to tape players.

Teachers used the A.V. room with Sappenfield's help to run off classroom materials.

Career Centers Explore Interests

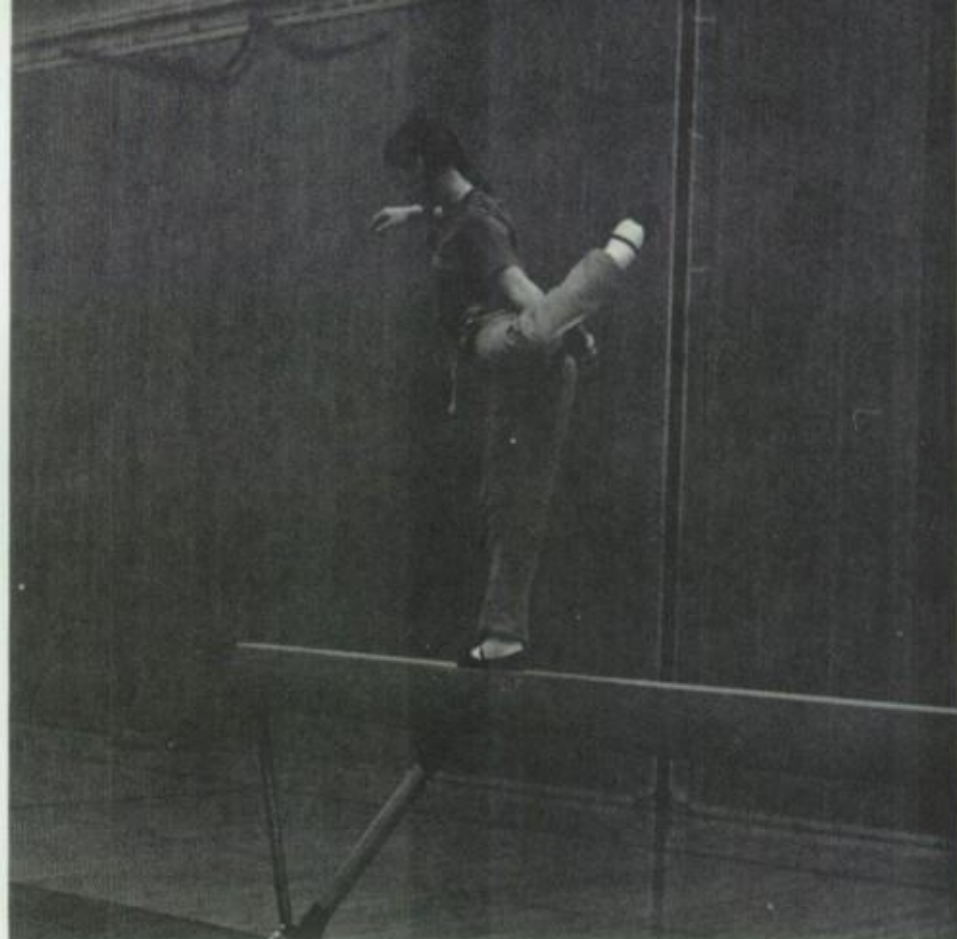

The health careers program run by Patricia Kocilaski was formed for those wishing to explore the over 300 career possibilities. The first year of the program introduces the students to the medical terms of anatomy and physiology. The second year reinforces the subject matter of the first year by "shadowing." It is a first hand experience in the medical field by following a professional in that field which a student is interested in.

The Career Development Center, available to all, contains resources which are designed to help those wishing to explore extensively different careers in a certain field. Individual conferences are held to help coordinate a student's interests and aptitudes.

Health Stressed in Gym Classes

Physical education, some people consider this class controlled recess, but the instructors know it is much more. P.E. gave students an opportunity to get out of the usual rut found in class formats. Along with having a good time, the students became healthy, and their bodies became toned.

The conventional gym classes were divided by gender. Some subjects taught were basketball, football, tennis, wrestling, and weight lifting for the boys and archery, softball, fencing, and volleyball for the girls. A special course in basic C.P.R. was provided to both classes.

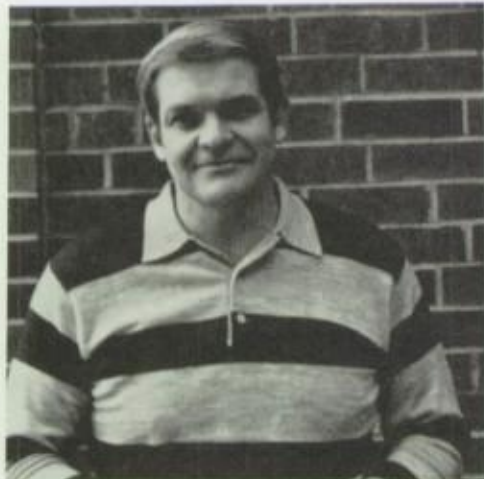

In addition to the standard P.E. classes, there were co-ed, elective classes. These classes were lifetime sports, rules and officiating, gymnastics and tumbling, fitness for living, and team sports, all of which were semester courses.

Naval Science Centers Upon Many Areas

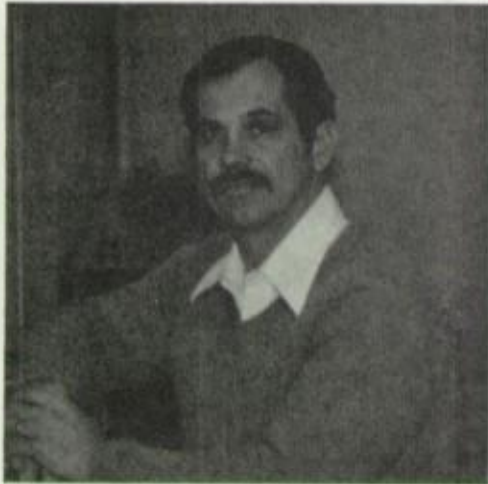

The Naval Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps, or NJROTC, was a combined academic and service organization which provided Shawnee Mission East students with specialized courses in naval related subjects. This group participated in many extra curricular activities in addition to their classroom work.

The Shawnee Mission East NJROTC directly took part in school related functions also. Both the boys' and girls' exhibition drillteams and the color guards performed the opening ceremonies at East home games during the football and basketball seasons.

The NJROTC at Shawnee Mission East emphasized academic and extra curricular interests in addition to development of leadership qualities. The NJROTC was a program highly beneficial for all those involved.

Rookie Drivers Learn Safety

The Driver Education Department provided an opportunity for East students to learn something useful and relevant to their lives: the rules of the road. Driver Education enables students to get a realistic view of the driving world through movies, texts, simulators, and actual street driving. It is a class highly beneficial to those who hope to become safe, capable drivers.

This year's Driver Education instructors were Mr. Beltram, Mr. Englund, Mr. Jacobs, Mr. Oman, and Mr. Stauffer. These men took on the responsibility of better preparing inexperienced drivers for the hazardous traffic scene.

Industrial Arts Teaches Students Skills

"I feel very strongly that everybody should take an industrial arts course. We're all consumers and can save ourselves a great deal of money if we know about the things we buy," stated Tom LeBar, department chairman of industrial arts.

Industrial arts classes include auto tech, wood, industrial communications, mechanical and architectural drawing, and metal. Each class was designed to give the student an opportunity to explore his interest or develop a skill in working with his hands.

"Our society pays for being so mechanized because skilled laborers can demand outrageous prices for their work," explained LeBar. "We buy products and we should all learn how to maintain them."

Ladies and gentlemen of the jury, before you pass judgement upon this, the product of our labors, and let no person be mistaken, for wearisome and tedious work was involved, take caution to assure that the conclusions you draw are just and fair under the given circumstances. No man may judge another without first coming to understand the nature and weight of his burdens, and how he comes to grips with them. Obviously, the annual has had a reputation over the years of being more of a fun and games hour than a recognizable class. Surely nobody who has ever served as a staff member of a yearbook can sincerely deny that yearbook production is one of the most inexact and haphazard sciences Man ever misbegottenly developed. It is sheer fantasy to suggest that a class that has no orderly structure, a nonexistent attendance policy, nearly no production procedure or technique, and which promotes a generally indifferent and lackadaisical attitude could ever result in an orderly, literally sound and technically superior publication. Never. To expect that is akin to expecting men to live in peace and perfect harmony. It just will not happen unless some basic changes are made.

Last year, Richard Graham became the new adviser for the Hauberk. I became editor-in-chief for this year. Both of us were inexperienced with yearbook production, yet this is no excuse for the kind of Hauberk published in those two years. Last year's book was sent to the Columbia Scholastic Press Association to be critiqued on a scale of one to three, three being the best. The book returned without a rating. CSPA had refused to waste its time. I hope little better for this yearbook.

There are many things which can be done and must be done if the Hauberk is ever to become a respected publication. Attendance must be as strict as for any other class. It is folly to place responsibility for a 328 page volume printed at a cost of about $15,000 in the hands of people without the responsibility to come to class. I chide myself on this point as well, for I was often absent from yearbook, working next door on the Harbinger. I admit openly that I regarded the Harbinger to be more important than the Hauberk, and for that I apologize to Mr. Graham and to the staff. Never did I make a greater mistake than when I tried to take on both editor's positions. Just one is enough to drive a person to ill temper and to hate himself for it.

Most importantly, yearbook must become a graded class, at least for the first three quarters. Journalism I must be a prerequisite to enrolling in yearbook. Yearbook will never be a respectful and worthwhile activity unless the appreciation of a deadline and the threat of a bad grade are things that a future yearbook staff member thinks about. The evidence to support these claims is right before you, in high-gloss paper. I rest my case.

Will?
 You do drugs!
 Choir was kick
 ass. Too bad you couldn't go to Beatlemania.
 This summer you'll have to go get drunk with the rest of us. Mike says you're getting good at tennis, maybe next week
 I'll have to burn you in a set. Have fun with Erin, but be safe! ^{Ha!} ^{Ha!}

Paul Burnmasterz (Brow)
 PS: We'll have to build a portable bar for those trips to Pittsburg. 5-0-15.

Will-
 Well I don't know what to say - Geometry was fun (I guess) I'm really glad we are finally friends. I really missed you on the ski trip. It's the end of the year - Will you tell me what yellow means? and maybe (if your lucky) I'll explain charm bracelets. I'm going to miss D.K. Day, T-Day, D-Deve, D-Day & Mr. B's B-Day. I'll try to give you gum to last you through the summer K? We have to do something this summer or I'll be very upset. When I'm cruisin' in the Horizon I'll take you somewhere(?)
 I'll try and call (if I'm not too busy) Write when you're at camp See ya.

Love,
 Donna

PS. you are not a jerk, you are a very sweet ~~guy~~ ^{cal} little on the perverted side)

Dear Weedel,
 my favorite
 French buddy, it kiddo-
 I don't believe it next year) OH BOY.
 NO MORE FRENCH. I'll be in the same class. Hopefully we can cause a hell of a lot of trouble. On the serious side - I'm glad I got to meet you, your added ~~smile~~ smile was a great way to start my day! Have a super summer -
 And stay out of trouble.
 Love ya!
 Beth "81"

Will
 let's play tennis
 this year. I'll whip
 you. Keep Erin - she's great.
 You're lucky. See you in choir. You should have made Chambers instead of ----!
 See ya,
 Ryan

Will
 I made it through well, we have different bands another class we can do something about I hope
 but I hope friends. See ya!
 The summer.
 Love,
 Beth Black
